THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1932

PRICE THREE CENTS

572 PENITENTS TROD THE TRAIL AT TABERNACLE

Heating Problem Solved, Cold Is Dispelled In Big Pine
Temple—"Sunday Meetings Greatest I Have Ever Conducted," Evangelist Asserts

Dr. W. E. Biederwolf showed the way to penitence for 572 men and women at the tabernacle, in two Sunday meetings. In the afternoon 250 women went forward and asked him to help them to a better life and in the evening 322 people came to the front. The total is now 2,304.

"This is the greatest meeting I have had in twenty-five years," the evangelist said at the close of the Sunday evening service at the tabernacle.

"And the women's meeting Sunday afternoon was the best I ever conducted," he added. "It is hard to stand up before such a vast congregation and preach and plead with so many people to come up and give their hearts to God," he said.

As the evangelist looked over the small army of men and women before him who, a few minutes before had walked down the sawdust path and give him their hand for Jesus Christ, a smile came over his face and he added: "But it is worth it. I am glad to wear my life out and make myself an old man before my time to be able to bring so many people into the light of the cross."

The problem of keeping the interior of the tabernacle comfortable has been solved. It was warm in all parts of the building Sunday night. Many of the men volunteered their services at the close of the Saturday night meeting and the interior north wall of the structure was covered with heavy paper. The entire building will be sheathed with paper as soon as possible, it is stated. A score of men offered to go to the grounds Monday and do what they could toward the work.

We could not ask for a warmer or more comfortable place," E. J. Hollings said, "but we are not going to take any chances with the weather and it seems very proper that we cover all sides of the building."

The tabernacle was filled at an early hour Sunday evening. Between 6,000 and 7,000 people were in the huge pine temple. He reached to a congregation of 6,000 women in the afternoon when he took for his text: "As a jewel of gold in a sinner's hand, so is a fair woman without discretion." The evangelist explained that the phrase "without discretion" means without good judgment, without moral sensibility. In a plain, blunt way he said it means without good sense and moral responsibility.

COLLECTIONS NEAR $500
Total collection of the day was $416.19. The assembly in the evening gave $261 and in the afternoon at the women's meeting, $155.19 was received.

"I do not believe in a different standard for men and women," Biederwolf declared. "What is right for a man to do is right for a woman to do. If a man can smoke and chew, it is just as much his wife's privilege."

He also said that he thought it was much women's fault that such a double standard does exist. "A man," he said, "can come home from his work Saturday night, eat his supper, fill half his face with tobacco and go up town to spend the evening telling rotten stories and dirty lies. He can be out with the boys half the night and then go to his bed, not to get up until noon Sunday. When he does get up he can eat this dinner fill his face with tobacco again and spend the whole afternoon gambling with the boys. Then in the evening he can dress up in his very best and go into the home of the sweetest girl in town and she will not say anything about it. What if a woman would do such things? She would be ruined in the eyes of everyone and not a man would let himself be seen in her company. It is nothing for a girl to be walking down the street with a cigarette smoking, shallow minded man, but let the girl try such things. Her companion would not go one step. It is just as time for the women of the United States to bring the standard of the men up to their own pure standard."

"A man comes home from his daily work with his face out of shape with tobacco, dirty yellow, juice running down his chin and a foul unclean breath," the evangelist said, "and then he wonders why his wife don't want to kiss him. He says she is not so affectionate as she used to be."

"Of course," he said, "we cannot give the women as much credit for being good as we can the men, for they are not subject to half the temptations that men are and of course they have got to be good. A woman's husband will not allow her to do the things she allows him to do and besides if she would do some of the things that are right for him she would be socially ruined."

CONSCIENCE DISTURBS
"There are people in Lima tonight who would be willing to put their own hand into furnace and let it be burned off if they could free their conscience of memories of the past. You may hide your sins from others, but you can't hide it from yourself or from God. None of us are perfect. We all belong to a crowd of sinners. But, oh, if we would only take our sins to God, let him hand us the pardon of the past and help us to the victory of the future, how happy and free hearted we would be."

The Sunday evening meeting at the tabernacle was opened by a song service directed by John Ross Reed. Rev. E. A. Watkins of the First

"TRICKED IN MARRIAGE" CARELESSNESS IS CHARGED TO OFFICIALS

KU KLUX' CHIEF

REV. OSCAR HAYWOOD

HYLAN DEFIED BY KLAN LEADER

Will Make New York Ku Klux
Stronghold, He Says

NEW YORK, (United Press)—Rev. Oscar Haywood Kalkard of New York, today de- f Mayor Hyman and announced that the Ku Klux Klan will "make New York its greatest stronghold."

The organizer answered the mayor's order to police to treat the Klan as they would "disorderly houses and gangsters," with the announcement that E. D. Smith, Buffalo, grand dragon of the state, would come here to help in forming chapters.

Simultaneously the Klan became a storm center in New York. While officials denounced, some ministers defended the organization from the pulpit in Sunday services.

Rabbi Wise, noted speaker and leader, condemned the order as in the phase of a world-wide anti-semitic movement.

Haywood in an interview answering critics declared that the Klan, standing against birth control, feminism and crime and for the prohibition law in America, would eventually become world-wide.

SUSPECT IN FIVE DEATHS HELD

Three Adults and Two Children
Murdered in Tennessee

BRISTOL, Tenn. — (United Press) — Ben Burchfield, possessor of an assortment of bloody clothing, was held in jail today as arrangements were completed for the burial of five murder victims.

The home of James W. Smith, grocery, was burned to the ground yesterday and authorities found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Burchfield and two children in the smoking ruins.

Burchfield, recently divorced from his wife, was arrested at Johnson City when his bloody clothing attracted attention. He refused to discuss the killings.

Police believed that Burchfield brutally murdered his wife and step-son, Charles, 13, and the members of the Smith family with whom they lived by striking them in the head with an axe. Bodies were then saturated with oil and the house set on fire in an effort to hide the crime, authorities said.

Excursion Launch and Ferry
Boat in Collision

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — (Associated Press) — Thirty-four lives were lost in a collision last night between a launch and a ferry boat in the Parana river near Zarate, northwest of Buenos Aires.

The collision occurred in the darkness at 8 o'clock last night. The launch, filled with picnickers, many of them children, struck the ferry boat while going at full speed.

The launch hit the larger craft at the overhang of the bow, under which the picnickers' boat disappeared.

So far as is known there are only three survivors of the excursion party and the launch crew.

TIERNAN CHARGES BRIDE WITH DECEPTION

Professor Returns to Wife No. 1
at South Bend

MATRIMONIAL MIXUP AIRED

Couples Married Without Either
Being Legally Divorced

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (United Press) — Professor John P. Tiernan, jilted his "mail order bride" today and went back to his first and legal wife, Augusta Tiernan.

Tiernan's second wife, Mrs. Blanche Brimmer, whose marriage to the professor was declared illegal a few hours after they were wedded in Crown Point, Saturday, returned to her home in Iowa, admittedly disillusioned.

The professor, who wooed and won his second wife by correspondence and married her two days after divorcing his first wife, forsook the widow for his first love when he learned she had been the central figure of at least two former marriages and divorce entanglements.

"That woman deceived me," Tiernan said. "She told me Brimmer was dead and I understood he still lives."

START LIFE ANEW

The Tiernans in their little home here prepared to start life all over again.

Mrs. Tiernan, who accused Harry Poulin, local haberdasher of the paternity of her baby in a recent sensational legal suit here, made no effort to conceal her jealousy of "Wife Number 2."

"You left me for that Blanche," she screamed at her husband. "How could you? You used to fling those letters in front of my face, you even showed me her picture, but I never thought you would marry her."

"That woman—I hate her," she sobbed.

Tiernan, cold, speculative, regarded it all as an interesting "case." Professor of law, he laid plans for opening up a practice in Chicago, specializing on what he termed "family cases."

"I have never met Ralph Obenchain," said Tiernan. "But I understand he is a good lawyer, and a good fellow and I think we ought to get together and talk things over."

Tiernan and Obenchain, it was said, had planned to establish a law partnership in Chicago.

WOMAN'S MARITAL STATUS, TANGLED

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Mrs. Blanche E. Hawn-Rash-Tiernan, second wife of John P. Tiernan, former professor of law at Notre Dame University, possesses a marital status at least as tangled as that of her husband for a day, according to revelations she made here before returning to Marshalltown, Iowa.

She planned to set about today learning whether she was entitled to legally accept Mr. Tiernan in their Crown Point, Ind., ceremony Saturday.

Mrs. Brimmer was left by Professor Tiernan with the injunction to "go and redeem yourself in my eyes." Tearfully she replied, "oh, I will, dear John."

Those expressions came after Professor Tiernan and Mrs. Brimmer were informed their marriage had been rendered illegal by annulment of Professor Tiernan's divorce from Mrs. Augusta Tiernan at South Bend, Ind., and her own prior marital status possibly was beclouded.

WOMAN'S STORY

When she was 16 years old, eight years ago, she eloped with Floyd L. Rash, Marshalltown, baker, from the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Charles H. Hawn, then of Ardmore, Iowa, and now of Hannibal, Iowa, she said. Four days after receiving a notice that Rash had sued for divorce, she said, she married Arthur H. Brimmer, at Oskaloosa, Iowa, only to learn that Rash had not obtained a final decree when she married Brimmer.

Nothing was done about the matter, she said, but she and Brimmer came to Chicago where she became a check girl in a Chinese restaurant. While here she learned Brimmer then was being sued for divorce by an earlier wife, whereupon she returned home, but rejoined Brimmer later at Kansas City, Mo. He disappeared there, she said, and his brother informed her Brimmer was dead.

"Is that all the proof of freedom you had when you married?" Professor

HEADS GERMAN WOMEN SEEKING VOTE

BARONESS LEJA DE TOERHOFF
Russian War Victim Drafted to Explain Politics to Former Enemies

NEW YORK, (Special)—A Russian refugee, now a naturalized American woman voter, has been drafted into service in Germany to help progressive German women establish "The Women Voters' Organization."

She is the Baroness Leja de Toerhoff, whose husband, a Russian colonel, was killed fighting the Germans three weeks after the war began.

Later her castle near Riga was confiscated by the Communists, her jewels were stolen and she was forced to flee to New York almost penniless.

Baroness de Toerhoff quickly adapted herself. She soon found a means of livelihood as a singer. Later she became a citizen.

In July she sailed for Europe German women, she writes, asked her to tell them about the experiences of American women in politics. Her discussions led to an invitation to become actively engaged in organizing women voters in various German cities, an invitation she has accepted.

4 STATES SHAKEN BY QUAKE

Property Damaged in Missouri,
Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky

ST. LOUIS, (Associated Press) — Considerable property damage was caused by earth tremors of moderate intensity in eastern Missouri, southern Illinois, Western Indiana and northwestern Kentucky last night, according to reports reaching here today.

The tremors shook buildings and homes, toppled chimneys from residences, broke windows, knocked chinaware from shelves and frightened residents in parts of four states, the report said.

Evansville, Ind., and Mattoon, East St. Louis, Benton, Clinton and Eldorado, Ill., and points in the northwestern part of Kentucky reported feeling the tremors about 9:30 o'clock. The tremors also were noticeable in St. Louis.

Attendees at the seismographic observatory at St. Louis University declared the tremors were recorded as centering southeast of this city and lasted ten minutes.

NEW QUAKE IN CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile — (United Press) — Property of the American Refining and Smelting Company and small coastal boats were destroyed, and larger ships damaged, in Sunday's earthquake and tidal wave north of Coquimbo, according to dispatches here today.

The latest tremors shook the northern coast of Chile for miles. No loss of life was reported.

Carriazo and Bajo bore the brunt of a wave which swept over the smelting company's branch property in two towns. Vessels in the harbors were dashed against water front structures or swept ashore,

County Commissioners Renew
Demand for Probe

DOG OWNERSHIP DETERMINED

Dr. Files and Dr. Patterson Continue Accusations

Business methods employed by both Dr. C. A. Files, superintendent of the District Tuberculosis hospital, and the board of trustees, are severely scored in the report of James N. Main, Jr., state examiner, who investigated financial affairs of the institution during a period covering 16 months, ending in July.

Copies of Main's report were received by Allen-co officials Monday. Simultaneously with the receipt of the report Allen-co commissioners made another move to probe the affairs of the institution. They announced that they are to confer with Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott, with a view to finding out some way to start an investigation.

Accounts of the institution have been so poorly kept, Main states, that an accurate audit is next to impossible.

Particularly in the payment of vouchers, the number of overpayments, duplications and errors amounts to inexcusable carelessness, the report states.

REVIEW ON ERRORS

Refunds have been obtained on a large part of the errors discovered, the report shows.

Failure of Superintendent Files to check and verify statements in the cause of a great many of the inaccuracies, the report states. In stead of doing so, each voucher, the receipt shows has been prepared and paid on the supposition that it was correct.

In this relation Main says: "A public official whose carelessness reaches such a stage as is apparent here, would of course be untouched by mere criticism."

In the same relation Main states that it is doubtful that Files and the trustees practice in their own affairs the carelessness manifested in that of the institution.

Methods employed by the trustees in paying claims is also severely scored. Claims are now paid, the report states, by attaching a voucher signed by the president, secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees and approved by Files, to a statement. The statement is often lost and vouchers are held in the bank until the treasurer of the trustees' board calls, once each month, it is charged.

Vouchers are then held by the treasurer from two to four months. As a result there is little wonder that the errors, duplications and overpayments noted occur, Main says. He recommends that the trustees return the vouchers to Files more frequently so that he may use them for reference.

No record of vouchers issued seems to have been kept by the board of trustees. Dr. J. M. Patterson, secretary, has hired a bookkeeper, who has drawn regular compensation, while the only evidence of services performed is found on the record of the board meetings, Main asserts.

Dr. Files receives a salary of $208.34 monthly, plus $10 for car fare and postage. He has drawn the amount regularly.

ITEMIZATION LACKING
Lack of itemization of the petty cash account is cited in the report. Main found that expenditures were being made by Files without check, his claims that the trustees consented to allow him to draw on petty cash as he showed, was not supported by all of the board.

Trustees are censured for this condition by Main, who says: "It is manifestly the duty of the trustees to know to whom money is paid and for what purpose."

Many of the items paid from petty cash should have been paid by a voucher, the examiner says. Among the items are several for labor one for $15 for whisky bought from Peter Van Schaeck & Sons, December 5, 1931, and another large purchase of intoxicants from the Large Distilling Co., Pittsburgh.

Question of ownership of a dog at the hospital seems to have been definitely settled by Main as examiner.

Files claimed the animal was property of the hospital, but this was disputed by several of the trustees. Files said to have asserted that they were not aware an animal was on the place.

A settlement was made by Files for $3.75 for three rabbits killed by the dog and for $2.60 for two dog collars purchased as vouchers. Main called attention to violation of section 3152 by members of the board of trustees. The statute requires that they give bond. This has not been done he says.

He also asserts that trustees have

PENITENTS TROD SAWDUST TRAIL

Great Meetings Held Sunday in Pine Temple

EVANGELIST IS PLEASED

Heating Problem is Solved by Paper Sheathing

Christian church, offered the opening prayer after which E. J. Rollings, assistant evangelist, made the evening announcements.

Sunday is always rest day for the evangelists party and there are religious meetings at the tabernacle. The regular meetings will be opened Tuesday morning. Prayer meetings will be held at the various homes at 9:30 a. m. every day this week, starting Tuesday. At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, John Ross Reed will entertain the children at the tabernacle. It has been urged that they all bring a dime for the police men and firemen fund, but it is not compulsory.

There will be a great musical program at the tabernacle Tuesday evening, it is promised.

Reed has secured the promise of his sister to come to Lima and sing at the tabernacle Saturday evening, it was announced.

Dr. Biederwolf said that although he was well pleased with the offering, he is anxious to get the expense cleared up as soon as possible so the meetings need not be bothered with taking collections. After everyone arose to their feet, as he had requested, the evangelist said: "Now I think it will be easier for you to get your hands into your pockets than it would be for me to get them down. Get the first coin that your hand touches, for I know that the biggest will be on top."

"AMEN" FOR DOLLARS

"Let's make this a dollar night. I will start it, the ushers will follow me and then all the congregation need do is fall in line. Don't let anyone give less than a dime. The Lord asked for silver and gold. He never said anything about the copper and the nickel. Everyone who is going to give an offering to the Lord may sit down." Whenever a dollar was dropped in the pan the ushers would call, "Amen." There were many "Amen's" in the choir. The total collection for the evening was $261.

At the request of Dr. Biederwolf, John Ross Reed sang a solo, "At the Great Judgment Morning."

The evangelist took for his text: "The Wages of Sin is Death, But the Gift of God is Eternal Life, thru Jesus Christ, our Lord."

"We all belong to a world of sinners," he said, "if we were to write down the many times in our lives we have sinned against our Heavenly Father, our sins would fill not only a book, but we would have a whole library. However, we can be forgiven and the Lord will forget the past if we will only take our sins to Him."

He will put your past behind Him and will give you a pardon and a clean page to start all over on. He will be just and good if you only put your trust in Him. God will never damn your soul. You alone can damn your soul and let your selfish fall into the everlasting fire of hell over which the devil, himself will reign in sin. The Lord, your Heavenly Father, is always by your side with the pardon of your past. His hand, all you need to do is turn and accept it and from then on follow in the ways of His teachings and you will have eternal life, the beautiful gift of God.

EVANGELIST IMPRESSED

"But," said Biederwolf, "if your heart is hard and your conscience has not been pricked by the words that I have just uttered and if you have made up your mind that you will never be a Christian, get up and leave the building, and never darken its doors again; stop up your ears whenever you hear the church bells ring and turn your head away when the hearse passes your home. You are lost and as much as the devil's own property as you will be when you stand in the fiery furnace of hell where you will suffer forever and forever."

The evangelist was very much moved by the throng that heeded his advice and came crowding to the altar to pray with him for their souls. There came from all parts of the temple, many from the choir.

"This has been a wonderful day," Biederwolf said. "I am exhausted but so happy that the teachings of God have touched the hearts of so many people in the tabernacle this afternoon and evening."

Full text of Dr. Biederwolf's sermon at the tabernacle, Sunday night. Text: "The Wages of Sin is Death, But the Gift of God is Eternal Life, Thru Jesus Christ, Our Lord."—Romans 6:23.

I have chosen this text tonight because I think it will make you think. It's a good thing, you know, for some people to think once in a while just for a change. If you knew you were going to meet God before tomorrow morning, you could not sleep tonight for the thoughts that would go buzzing thru your old head. Some of you are hitting the earth so hard in your mind and chase after Godless pleasures of this world, with its card-playing parties, its dancing, punch drinking receptions that if you meet a serious thought in the middle of the road you wouldn't know what to take it for.

I want you to get serious tonight, as I preach to you from this text "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life thru Jesus Christ, our Lord." It's a great text. I guess the most of us will admit that there's plenty of sin in the world and those of you who are honest will admit that we have done our share of it. Someone asked an old woman back in the woods what she thought of the doctrine of total depravity, and she said she thought it was a pretty good doctrine if people would only live up to it. It's all very well to believe in Rousseau's roseate philosophy of the goodness of mankind, but when a man comes to me and tries to explain away the doctrine of sin, I say to him: "That may look very nice written up in a book and labeled with a high-sounding title, but it doesn't tally with experience." Sin is too real to be ignored and nobody but a fool would think of making sport of the doctrine. GETTING RID OF SIN

Now, ever since sin came into the world man has been speculating about its nature and where it came from and

Tabernacle Sidelights

Do not stay away from the Biederwolf tabernacle because some one told you that. It was cold Saturday night. The heating problem has been solved and you will find it very comfortable from now on. In spite of the cold winds, the temperature was held up to the desired standard Sunday night.

The kiddies are urged to be present at the 4 o'clock tabernacle meeting Tuesday afternoon. They know John Ross Reed. He will have charge of the meet, and will have something doing all the time. His program will entertain and educate.

Watch for the tree at the tabernacle Tuesday afternoon. John Ross Reed will make one grow from the platform.

"A dime collection will not be taken Tuesday afternoon," Rollings announced. "The meeting will be free, but we would like to have every child bring a dime for the policemen and firemen fund."

John Ross Reed will be the big noise at the tabernacle Tuesday.

The choir is doing double duty. They are providing good music for the congregation and the collection plan is never empty after it leaves their section.

"If God should come to Lima today," said Biederwolf, "And would print on the foreheads of all the people, the sins they have committed, every man would be going around tomorrow wearing a hat too big for him. Many of the women too, would change the way they are combing their hair."

"Men have always called the women angels," the evangelist said. "Well, why not? They are always hurrying about something, they are always up in the air and they never have anything to wear."

When Dr. Biederwolf said there was mention in the Bible of a woman angel, one woman in the audience said to another woman by her side: "Well, I've never seen the picture of a man angel. Every picture that I have ever known of has been of women."

"Don't smell like a cross between a Billy goat and a hamburger cheese," said Biederwolf. "The Lord says in His Bible that first you must be good and second you must be clean."

At one time Dr. Biederwolf was talking to an old deadbeat about his sins and pleading with him to give up the ways of the devil and follow the Lord, but the old fellow was very indifferent. "Oh," he said, "I am not 'skered' to die."

"Well maybe not," came the evangelist's answer, "but you'll be badly 'skered' after you die."

though that was a matter of very great importance. A man says: "How did I come by this sinful nature?" But that's not half as important as the knowledge of how to get rid of it. I didn't know where I came from that's no reason why I shouldn't look out where I am going. Here's a man drowning. He's gone down once and as he comes up some one shoves him a pole and says, "Grab it and I'll pull you in." And the fellow says: "How did I come to be here?" And the man says: "I've got no time to answer that question now." Then I'll drown, he says, and he sinks to the bottom. You say he was a fool. But no bigger fool than the man who refuses to accept God's remedy for sin when he knows he's a sinner, just because he can't understand the philosophy of sin and all about its origin.

The story of your own life condemns you. Turn back over the past and tell me what you read. People talk about the "book of life." If every sinful thought and word and deed were recorded it would take a library for most of us.

You dig up your past and lay it all out before you, and if there's any decency about you, you'll humble your proud heart in the sight of God and man.

THE DOUBLE STANDARD

You must not come in here and say you have no sin. I don't care if there's been much goodness about your life, but man, if Almighty God would come down tomorrow morning and write all the sins of your past life across your forehead, the men of Lima would be wearing hats several sizes too large for them that they might slip down and hide from the world the story of their shame.

And what about you women? I know there's a good deal to be said in your favor. I sometimes think that if the women of this world had been better than the men that God would have dumped the whole thing into hell long ago. But woman, God made you different and you don't have the same temptations as the men. In fact, the men do. But the biggest reason why you're better than the men is the men compel you to be. It's he decent or he damned. If God would come down into these aisles tonight and write across your forehead the story of your past, and all the sins that's ever been in your heart, you'd drop your head and run from the building that people round about you might not read and know the shame and disgrace that belongs to you because of the evil in your conscience.

CONSCIENCE CONDEMNS

Your own conscience condemns you for your sin. Your conscience will not condemn you for certain things, because you've sinned so long that you've killed your conscience at that point. But as a rule, when you've done wrong, your conscience will condemn you for it.

That's one of the things that distinguishes a man from a hog or a horse or a hyena. They have no conscience about what they do. When you have done wrong, I can't tell a saint from a sinner when I look into your faces. I can't tell a Christian from an infidel or a libertine from a pure man, unless you tell me. You can make a pretty good guess sometimes. You can hide it from other people, but you can't hide it from yourself.

You may not have done anything like that, your hands may not be red with somebody's blood; you may not be a gambler; you're no booze fighter; you may not be a thief; you may not have stolen anything you have, yes, I'm willing to admit there's lots worse people in the world than you, but I don't care where you go or when you go, there is no music no mirth no prosperity of any kind that will ever drown out your conscience that you are a sinner and there are people in Lima round about you are suffering with in themselves a veritable hell because of their sins.

THE WAGES OF SIN

Full text of the text: "The wages of sin is death."

It's a threat. It's the warning voice of love. God don't damn you, but your sin will. If you think you can violate the law without suffering, you're thinking in pieces of sophistry that belongs to the delusions of an infantile brain. It don't make any difference whether it's the law of God, or man or nature. You may escape the law of man if you're shrewd enough, but you can't get away from those others; and you might as well buckle a lightning rod to your back to keep off the lightning as to go and live in sin and not expect sin's lightning to strike you in the world to come.

You will suffer for your sin, not because God said so, God said so because you will sin in its own avenger. It's like a boomerang. It strikes back. I don't care what your idea of hell may be, I've no time to quarrel with you about that, but of this one thing you may be sure when you have finished trifling with your convictions here, when you have done defying the patience of God, uttering His mercy, spurning His love, rejecting His word and trampling under your feet the blood of His Son, your sin follows after you and towering over you with lightning of its own revenge. The wages of sin is death. And oh, my brother, if you have been going thru this world willfully committing sin and trying to make yourself believe that you are not going to be held accountable for it in the world to come for God's sake and your own, do not buy such a delusion to you, breast any longer.

BRIGHTER SIDE OF TEXT

But there's a brighter side to the text. Listen. "But the gift of God is eternal life thru Jesus Christ, our Lord."

And what does that mean? It means three things—Thru Jesus Christ your sin will be pardoned, that God thru Jesus Christ will give you power over sin; that God thru Jesus Christ will bring you to a place where there is no sin.

First, that thru Jesus Christ your sin will be pardoned. There was a rich old Russian who had gotten a lieutenant's commission for his boy in the Russian army. The young man became dissipated, and among other things commenced to gamble. He went from bad to worse until he squandered a fortune. He sat down one night in despair and tried to figure out how much he owed and the figures ran so high they overwhelmed him. In despair he wrote this and thought over it until he fell asleep. The czar was a friend of his father's and that night he was walking among the troops reviewing the fortifications against the coming assault of the French and English. He and the young man asleep and saw what he had been doing; he saw figures added up and the total, and down beneath the words, "Who will pay all this?" The czar stooped down and wrote beneath it all in his own hand, sealed it with the royal signet. When he had gone, the young soldier awoke and saw what had been done. He thought at first it was a joke, but had seen the czar writing and there was the signet. He presented it to the treasury and they refused to pay it unless it came through the regular channel, but he made application to the czar and the czar ordered the debt to be paid and the obligation discharged.

And say, you can't sit here in this meeting and recall every dollar you ever stole, every lie you ever told, every art of adultery you ever committed, every thought of adultery you've ever had, every profane word you ever uttered, every blow you ever struck, every glass of whiskey you ever drank, every unkindness to your wife or husband and every infidelity, and everything that has been a dishonor to God and disgrace to your manhood or womanhood until your sins pile up like Rockies on top of the Himalayas and tell me who in heaven or earth or hell, will ever pay it. You can't pay it. For all your culture, your morality, your intelligence, your good works, your penance, your stock, your story, your profession or your fame and all you've got on God Almighty's whirling earth can never dissolve that mountain, or pay the debt you owe, and when at last in despair for your sins, with no help and no light you write, "Who will pay all this?" I would like to write down beneath it all, one name, that name that's above every name.

"Sweetest name of mortal tongue, Sweetest name in seraph's song, The blessed name of Jesus." He will pay it all, and He will set you free. He'll forgive you.

POWER OVER SIN

It means second, that God, thru Jesus Christ, will give you power over sin. You can do something in your own strength and some things you can't, and your good resolutions at their best, carried out in your own strength, last you only for a day, and you go down before the first temptation.

They tell the story of Abe Mukier, an evangelist down in Texas; or rather Abe tells it himself. Before he became a preacher he used to quarrel occasionally with his wife. He knew the old life so well and his temper sometimes got the better of him. Abe was a Methodist and his wife was an Episcopalian. And one day Abe said: "Look here, I'll tell you what's the matter with you; there ain't no religion in your church, you just read a prayer book and the gambler the runner, the doer of evil, and you're not to meet the young women of Lima. She does not expect any of them to remain without the entire meeting, but she wants them to be there at least during the lunch hour. She has arranged a complete program for the meeting."

BRITAIN IS JEALOUS OF U. S. TRADE IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO — The Brazilian government will receive with the greatest sympathy any advances on the part of the British government for a trade treaty providing mutual concessions.

Journal do Commercio, government organ, makes this statement in an inspired note.

The note makes it clear, however, that Brazil is not ready to make concessions to England without similar concessions on Brazilian exports to that country.

Publication of the note is result of strong propaganda by British commercial interests, especially in London, claiming that British commerce with Brazil is suffering handicaps because of the preferential trade treaties now existing between Brazil and the United States and Belgium.

These treaties grant a reduction of 20 per cent on certain essential imports from those countries, which in turn, grant free entrance to certain classes of Brazilian export products.

Biederwolf Program

At 9:30 a. m. Tuesday there will be prayer meetings in many of the homes in Lima.

Tuesday, 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. business women's luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Frances C. Allison, who will have charge of this meeting, is very anxious to meet the young women of Lima. She does not expect any of them to remain without the entire meeting, but she wants them to be there at least during the lunch hour. She has arranged a complete program for the meeting.

Tuesday at 4 p. m. John Ross Reed will entertain the children at the tabernacle with a magical program. Every child is urged to bring a dime for the police and firemen fund.

DEMOCRATS, REPUBLICANS SPEND NEAR SAME AMOUNT IN HARDIN-CO ELECTION

KENTON—According to campaign expense accounts certified to the secretary of state by S. J. Pence, clerk of the Board of Elections, the last election cost Hardin-co candidates $2,882.34.

Of this amount Democrats spent $1,436, while Republicans spent $1,446.34. The largest single amount was spent by George Berlein, successful Democratic candidate for sheriff, who reported $260, while the smallest amount is accredited to O. P. Bower, Democrat, unsuccessful candidate for recorder, $60.

AMERICAN MOTORISTS TO SEEK BETTER LAWS

WASHINGTON — A drive for revision of legislation affecting motorists of the country will be made when the legislatures of 43 states convene in 1923, it was announced by the national motorists' association here.

Highway commissioners in all these states now are drafting new bills and amendments to correct faults of standing laws.

These drafts are expected to align state laws more closely with federal statutes, take up the question of theft prevention, motor car registration, legislation controlling headlights and taxes and fees.

The questions of making motor vehicles legally common carriers, uniform traffic laws, elimination of grade crossings, highways environment legislation and snow removal also will be forced before the legislatures.

CONTAGION AT MINIMUM

KENTON—Hardin-co is remarkably free from contagious diseases, according to a statement made by Dr. Roy K. Evans, of Ada, county health commissioner. Throughout the entire county but two cases of diphtheria exist and they are in widely separated territory.

Don't miss The Big Country store at Majestic Theater tomorrow night.

IDENTIFY STOLEN WATCH; ACCUSED KENTON MAN IS THOUGHT TO BE IN LIMA

KENTON — A gold watch taken from Joe Nichols after his arrest here last week on a charge of assaulting and robbing Burke Valentine and August Myers after getting them intoxicated, was identified by Myers as his own. Both Valentine and Myers said Nichols had robbed them of money totalling nearly $100, the Nichols denied the charge.

He was bound over to the grand jury on $500 bond and when his bondsmen asked to be released, Nichols disappeared, they say. Police believe that he went to Lima, the search there failed to locate him.

An indictment for highway robbery is pending against Nichols in the local courts and he was out on bond.

WANTED AS DEMENT, ADA MAN ESCAPES FROM HOTEL

KENTON—Police officers of Hardin-co believe that John Marazino, Ada, may have been abducted by persons whom he said were after him and whom he sought to elude for several days before arousing the suspicions of Ada police.

Marazino is wanted on a charge of being mentally unbalanced as the result of an escapee at Ada last week when he terrorized a gathering of students by flashing a gun. When Sheriff Johnson went to arrest him in the Young Hotel, Ada, in which he had been secured, he had disappeared.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, sore frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

CITIZENS APPROVE LIGHT PLAN

Business Men Express Willingness to Help City

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM SEEN

Officials Confident Threatened Darkness Will Be Averted

Attempts to keep the boulevard lights operating after December 1 are meeting with an enthusiastic response from business men, it is reported at the city hall.

Several merchants and property owners stopped in at city hall Monday morning and expressed themselves in favor of keeping the lights burning and said they were willing to pay for their foot frontage.

"We are confident that some plan will be devised whereby the lights may be kept burning, thru the activities of the men who are responsible for the problem," Ellis Jones, commissioner, said Monday.

Formal notices have been sent to the Ohio Power Co., suppliers of the arc light current; the Lima Gas Co., operators of the gas lights; and the waterworks, suppliers of the boulevard light current, that the city will not be responsible for any debts contracted after December 1.

LACK OF MONEY—There is no money in any of the funds and under the state law the city cannot contract debts when there is no means in sight for their payment, Commissioner Jones said. Because of the lack of money it will be necessary to turn off all street lights unless some plan can be devised which will be acceptable to all persons involved, Mayor Harold Cunningham says.

Just what method has been worked out or will be devised to pay for the lights has not been announced by any of those interested. City officials point out that any aid must reach them from the outside and cannot be started by them.

Lighting of the residence district is expected to prove a more difficult problem than the lighting of the business district as it will be harder to obtain the unanimous consent of the property owners and to make the necessary collections, officials point out.

Methods for the solving of the lighting problem may be taken up by the city commission Monday night if the plans are in tangible form. It is feared that definite action will not be possible, however, until later in the week.

TO STUDY BUDGET—Study of the proposed budget for 1923 will be taken up by the commission and further pruning of appropriations may be seen, it was indicated.

Total appropriations for next year are already below the $200,000 mark and with only $175,000 in receipts available it will be necessary to lop off another $25,000 somewhere.

City commissioners do not know where the cuts will be made but fear with the necessity of doing something they may apply the ax to the office forces of the city which have to date been unmolested.

ELECTION COSTS COUNTY $8,700

Forty-one and a Fraction Cents for Each Nov. 7 Ballot

Expense of holding the November 7 election in Allen county amounted to $8,700 or 41 and a fraction cents for every vote cast, records of the election board completed Monday, disclosed.

All bills against the election board have been received and cleaned up, A. J. Morris, clerk, declared.

Altho it was generally reported that an unusually large vote was cast in the county, final tabulation of the returns and comparison with registration figures, reveals only about 60 voters out of every 100 voted the polls.

There are approximately 34,000 voters in the county, Morris said. Of this number 21,186 exercised their right of franchise on November 7.

The cost of holding the election would have been no larger had every voter in the county cast his or her ballot, it is stated. Provision had been made for such contingency, as required by law.

Money due registrars, clerks and judges held up by the city temporarily, has been paid, Morris said. Payment was made after the board made preparations to demand an investigation.

SEEKS BACK RENT

Claimed to be Unpaid for Past 28 Years

Rental on farm land in Sugar Creek township which is alleged to have been unpaid since death of Abraham Jones in 1894, is sought in an action filed in common pleas court Monday by Mrs. Eunice Falke, against Minnie E. Jones, and other heirs.

Mrs. Falke is a daughter of Abraham Jones, who held a life estate in 168 acres in Sugar Creek township by Thomas G. Jones in 1873.

The plaintiff says she had eight brothers and sisters and therefore secured a one-ninth interest. In order to enable heirs of Wesley Jones, a brother to secure a $5,000 loan from the Cleveland Land Bank, all signed the mortgage to give title.

Now Mrs. Falke wants a division of the farm and rent due to date. Two-thirds of the land has passed into possession of T. T. Jones.

Minnie E. Jones, defendant, in a cross petition sets forth similar allegations and demands.

DANCES WILL AID SAFETY FUND

Two Parties Planned for Benefit of Police, Firemen

Devotes of Teryseichore will be able to help the policemen and firemen by attending two dances to be given this week, C. A. Bingham, city manager, announced Monday.

A dance will be given at the Moose hall Thanksgiving evening and one at the K. of C. hall Saturday night. Total receipts of the two dances will be turned over to the safety fund.

Delphos Ponce's dance orchestra "The Shawnees" will play at each of the dances, donating their services to the musicians union for the benefit of the city.

With the co-operation of the two organizations a large sum of money can be raised, Bingham said.

DONATIONS CONTINUE—Donations were still being received by the city Monday. Rev. James Clark, pastor of St. Gerard's Catholic church, sent in $10, Carl Baumgardner $5 and Miss Ruth Keating $1.

By making the cuts announced by Mayor Harold Cunningham, the city commission believes it will be able to complete the year with practically a clean slate.

It may be necessary to borrow some money from the firemen and policemen salary funds, Bingham said, but the year will be ended with all bills paid.

Expenditures for the year up to November 1 were $264,219.53 and receipts were $264,828.14. This includes street repair and other funds supplied by taxation and the automobile license fund.

In the same period the waterworks department received $220,492.60 and spent $184,578.18 leaving a balance in the treasury of nearly $40,000 as profit. This will be applied to the debts of the plant named Monday by a committee of Delphos Kiwanis as candidates for club officers. Each member will vote for eight. The one receiving the highest number of votes at the December 4 meeting will be declared president, the next vice president and the next five as trustees. The names were reported by H. M. Kaverman, A. C. Weger, B. L. Jauman, John G. Miller and George Horne. The club, in its Monday luncheon meeting, voted to cooperate in Educational week activities.

STATE COMPLAINT NETS ARREST

Governor Refers Report to Lima Police—Man Taken

Complaints addressed to Governor Harry Davis and referred by his office to the Lima police department, resulted Monday in the arrest of Bert Rouse, 40, Crescent hotel, on a charge of gambling and selling lottery tickets.

The complaints were signed "A Lima Citizen" and were originally postmarked from this city. They gave the name of the man placed under arrest and charged him with selling Pacific, Fort Worth, and other lottery tickets. They also charged him with selling baseball and football tickets.

His activities, the letters declared, covered the entire summer. Rouse had no comment to offer when he was placed under arrest on N. Main-st. Monday.

He will probably be arraigned in police court Tuesday morning.

"NAVAL ACADEMY DISGRACED"

Cadets' Conduct After Football Game Scored by Denby

MIDSHIPMEN DRINK HEAVILY

Secretary Shocked by Shameful Acts at Philadelphia

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The conduct of the Annapolis midshipmen at the Army and Navy football game in Philadelphia Saturday was arraigned in a public statement today by Secretary Denby of the Navy department, declaring that members of the corps had brought disgrace not only on themselves but on the Naval Academy.

"How many midshipmen drank heavily I do not know," said the secretary's statement, but he added that despite the good behavior of many, enough midshipmen had "failed to do their duty to their uniform and to their country to bring shame upon all."

He announced that an investigation would be ordered.

Secretary Denby's statement follows:

SECRETARY SHOCKED—"My attention has been called to the misconduct of a number of midshipmen from the Naval Academy on Saturday night after the Army-Navy game. I have no desire to minimize in any way the fact that many of the midshipmen did disgrace themselves and bring disgrace upon the Naval Academy for I know it to be true. I am shocked beyond measure that such things could have occurred. The misconduct on that occasion was, as far as I know, the most flagrant that has ever been charged against the Academy."

"How many midshipmen drank heavily I do not know. The whole regiment was in Philadelphia. Only a relatively small proportion of the regiment attended the ball. Of this proportion I think the great majority conducted themselves with propriety but enough failed of their duty to their uniform and to their country to bring shame upon them. Such occurrences will never be repeated for such steps as are necessary will be taken to make it impossible in the future."

"In this connection I wish to make it quite clear that the Naval Academy has heretofore set an example to the country of good conduct upon such occasions and will set that example in the future. I was so proud of them at the game which was one of the most thrilling I have ever seen and where I saw absolutely no evidence of drinking among the midshipmen. The later events of the evening came as an absolute shock. When I think of the picture presented by our 2,400 young men standing at company salute in honor of the visitors while the cadets celebrated upon the field their well won victory, I can hardly reconcile their sportsmanlike conduct then with what occurred afterwards. An investigation will at once be ordered."

BURNS TO DEATH

Woman Kills Self by Firing Her Clothes

ELYRIA—(Associated Press.)—Mrs. Betty Moore, 80, was found burned to death today in the living room of her home at Carlisle, a mile south of here.

According to police who investigated the case following the finding of the body by her son, William, Mrs. Moore had evidently saturated her clothing with gasoline and set fire to it.

Altho the tragedy occurred in the house neither the furniture nor rugs showed signs of flames.

SEAL SALE WILL AID CHILDREN

Goal Set at $500 at Delphos—Mrs. Kline's Committee

Services of a nurse, distribution of milk to undernourished children, examination of children's defective eyes, treatment of tuberculosis patients and general distribution of anti-tubercular literature will be possible if Delphos citizens support the annual Christmas seal campaign which opens December 1, according to Dr. N. E. Brundage, Delphos health commissioner.

Funds derived from sale of the seals last year was sufficient to carry out this program, and even more is expected this season to conduct a greater program. At the present time 75 half-pints of milk are distributed daily to undernourished children in the four Delphos public schools.

The goal is $500, which means the sale of 500,000 seals. Under the customary arrangement, the city is allowed to retain 80 per cent of the proceeds.

Committees which will assist Mrs. Grace Kline, campaign director, in distributing the seals thru the business and residential sections were announced Monday, as follows:

First Ward—Mrs. J. N. Sadler and Miss Neta Steins.

Second Ward—Mrs. Carl Roth and Mrs. C. F. Leumann.

Third Ward—Mrs. L. C. Laudick and Mrs. Leo Birkenmeier.

Fourth Ward—Miss Isabel Weger and Miss Helen Weisgerber.

Commercial Bank—Miss Mary Brotherton and Mrs. R. B. Grafton.

National Bank—Mrs. George Stallkamp and Mrs. William J. Steins.

Schenk's Dry Goods Store—Mrs. Harry Reul and Mrs. Harry Miller.

Postoffice—Mrs. Elmer Steins and Mrs. Wilbur Harris.

A committee to conduct the sale in industrial plants will be chosen soon.

Booths will be erected at each of the above places in the business district in order to reach the throngs of Christmas shoppers.

WILL DEBATE CITY MANAGER PLAN

Delphos High School Pupils in Thanksgiving Program

NO PLANS FOR THURSDAY

Numerous Affairs of Pre-Holiday Interest Arranged

Members of the senior class of Delphos high school will debate Wednesday on the question, "Resolved, That Delphos should adopt the city manager form of government."

Numerous events of social and entertainment nature will mark the observance of Thanksgiving in the neighboring city. There will be little activity on the day itself, but before Thursday the city will be awash with many events.

The public has been invited to attend the class program at 1 45 p. m. in Jefferson school auditorium. Members of the senior class will present a varied and interesting program, including the debate on city manager plan of government by Clair Shaffer and Earl Valentine, affirmative; Foster Spellman and Sylvester Stiversen, negative.

Reading of Governor's Thanksgiving proclamation, George Moorman Vocal Solo, Paul Hendrickson, Essay, "Origin of Thanksgiving," Margaret Dikus.

Violin solo, Mary Katherine Hick and Clair Shaffer, John Alden, Quartette, Dorothy McConkey, Agnes Wagener, Otto Wortman, Frank Irick.

Oration, "Our Debt to the Puritans," Otto Wortman.

WILL PRESENT PLAY—Play, "The First Thanksgiving," with Kenneth Harper as Governor Bradford; Carol Holmes as Elder Brewster; Ellis Sherick, Miles Standish; Carl Lick, John Alden; Lawrence Knopp, Herbert Winslow; Nile Fritz, Massasoit; Lucille Gobel, Dame Brewster; Dorothy McConkey, Pocahontas; Martha Staup, Betty Brewster; Grace Springer, Dame Horner; Agnes Wagener, Patience Horner; Harry Grove, Giles Horner; Delbert Dolbey, Sylvester Stiversen; Foster Spellman, Otto Wortman; Earl Valentine, Paul Hendrickson; George Moorman and Clair Shaffer, Indians and colonists.

Delphos Knights of Columbus will give a dance and card party Wednesday night in their clubrooms.

Mrs. Rose Fast's orchestra will provide the music.

The football game Thanksgiving afternoon between Delphos and Wapakoneta high schools will be the big event of the day. Interest is keen and a crowd of 1,500 is expected. Two hundred are expected from Wapakoneta.

Thursday night Edwin M. Whitney, monologist, will be heard at Jefferson auditorium in the second number of the high school lecture course.

DELPHOS PEOPLE ASKED TO OBSERVE EDUCATION WEEK, DECEMBER 3 TO 9

Every person in Delphos of official capacity has been asked by Superintendent H. R. Hick of the public schools to assist in observing Education Week, December 3 to 9.

He has sent letters to all ministers, asking them to preach on the subject of education Sunday; to the mayor, urging a proclamation; to merchants, requesting window displays; to motion picture houses, urging slides as a means of soliciting people to visit schools.

A speaker will probably be provided for the Kiwanis meeting next week to speak on the subject. Others may bring the message at other meetings.

Cooperation with educational, official and patriotic, civic and fraternal organization is urged.

OUR STREET LIGHTING PROBLEMS

THOSE who have the welfare of Lima at heart and are honestly attempting to help solve our serious problems are offering various plans to prevent the city from being cast into darkness after the first of the month when lighting funds will be exhausted. Some of these appear to be feasible; others are out of the question.

It would be a serious matter if the down town section were to be without street lights during the holiday season, particularly. We hope a plan can be worked out to provide lights in the business area during the month of December, at least. If all the lights can be kept burning, so much the better.

One plan suggested which probably will not meet with popular approval is that of operating the lights free to the city and assessing the pro rated amount on the monthly bills of consumers of electricity of the city. This plan would not be equitable as a whole and would levy an indirect tax upon persons not able to bear it. The man with a million and the widow with only the income of her home laundry would pay alike under such an arrangement.

An assessment plan for the boulevard lighting system whereby abutting property owners would stand the expense probably could be worked out in a satisfactory manner. This could include the business district only and would fix the cost where the benefit is received. Business men undoubtedly would derive more than enough extra business and good will from Christmas shoppers to offset the expense. The Lima News would gladly pay its pro rated assessment to keep our White Way blazing for the Yuletide throngs.

ALLEN-CO ROADS

ANNOUNCEMENT made of the opening of a major highway improvement, between Lima and Elida, after vehicle owners have been subjected to inconveniences by reason of necessity of detours for some time, is pleasing information to those who are required to use the important stretch of road.

Bringing Allen-co up to the standard set by other units of the commonwealth in the matter of good roads is costing vast sums of money, but no county can long play the laggard in this respect. Good roads are as essential in these latter days of myriads of motor vehicles as paved streets are to the city.

Assurances given by contractors on other routes that work is nearing an end brings this county nearer to the realization of being one of the best improved in the state, in highways. Every effort is being made, it is understood, to get all new construction in service before the first of the year.

Another pleasing feature that accompanies announcement of completion or near completion of improved highways, is the opportunity that will be afforded Christmas shoppers to get into the city, quickly and without the inconvenience of detours. Lima merchants are anticipating an extraordinary holiday business and they deserve it, having laid in immense stocks for disposal at prices as low as is possible while taking care of necessary overhead cost of distribution.

SCHOOL FOR FARMERS

THRU the medium of the Allen-co Farm Bureau, announcement is made that schools are to be held in this county, in charge of a director of the farm accounts section of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, for the instruction of agriculturists in keeping farm operation costs, as well as a record of income from effort employed.

It is just as important that those who till the soil and conduct stock farms should know, at all times, the difference between their income and outgo, as it is for a merchant or manufacturer to have lines on their business which insures against failure.

City and state and national governments are conducted mainly these days on the budget system. Success can come only when expenditures are within receipts. Too many persons have found themselves on the financial shoals as a result of spending more than they receive.

State bureau agencies are affording many things of value for the farmer. The accounts section of the Ohio Farm Bureau is one of them.

We hate to mention unpleasant things, but income taxes are due again ten days before Christmas.

Breakfasted thoughtfully, on radishes and milk toast. Abroad, still in a stupor from my conscience, albeit bowing in fume friendliness to Mrs. O. E. Chenoweth in her electric coach. Thence falteringly to a bank to arrange the printer's payroll. Telling Clair Tolan I had reasons to believe the worst was over. With business in better stride this month. To the office, with it all fixed, making Phil happy thereat.

"And digressing, this putting the city in darkness is not my idea at all. Shall we all carry lanterns as in the Jimtown boyhood days? Won't Mose Mitchell look cute going out Market lugging a kerosene lamp? A little less light in summer might have saved us. But that's gone. So, let's start a faro bank or a roulette table. Cries of hear, hear. From Pierce-st way. So, that won't do.

Lunched at The Mikado with my niece. Thence to Low Cunningham's fair to witness Anna's Ascent. As done by the charming Alice Brady. Saw her in a speaking play, "Sinners," in Gotham last year. But she's even better in the movies. Yet it was "The Gang" comedy we really went to see. All the afternoon trying to drain the radiator. Howbeit, the stop-clock wouldn't work. So drove down to Bill's for alcohol and tweezers. And Bill newly come from Dayton where he got 22 rabbits in one field, in one afternoon. Which is another.

Dodged, the two Boul-lights on Market-st safely, and so home. For dinner had the best roast beef I ever did eat, with stringed beans and bacon on the side, and browned potatoes for the vegetables. No salad again this night, which vexed me much. The sweet a choc cake, with pineapples.

After dinner strolled down the avenue, seeing Jim Dugan emerging from a taxicab. That fellow is a regular spendthrift. At the club few about, hardly enough for a rum hand. They sadly miss Doc Kniseley. So, into Deisel's to buy a pair of wool socks for my wife, against the anniversary. She having given me a package of Bull Durham for my new pipe.

No traffic cops in this burg these days. And motors going kelter skelter, with the poor pedestrian not having a chance. On the public square, looked in on genial Milton Kugelmann of The Star clothing shoppe. But law sakes, he had no time to gossip. And the men sure buying this night. And the same story with John Tooley down at the People's Credit. I'd like to trade my salary check for his receipts this day.

So musingly, wandered out Elm-st and reached the Tabernacle in time for the offertory.

BE PREPARED FOR THE WORST

Three doctors, all of us more or less eminent men in our special fields, happened to be among the guests at an inn in the mountains one fine autumn night. Near the inn was a sharp turn of the road at the foot of a hill and a narrow bridge over a deep chasm. Soon after dark a car came to grief at this bridge and a passenger was carried into the inn unconscious and bleeding from wounds about the face and head. The three of us did all we could for the victim—but so far as first aid or medical or surgical service was concerned we might as well have been three cawing crows for not one of us had so much as a hypodermic syringe or a piece of adhesive plaster at hand to work with.

After some excursions and alarms three real doctors from country places round about arrived and did something for the injured man. Every person who is responsible for an automobile ought to see to it that the car is equipped with a small emergency outfit in case of accident. I have often before been caught well prepared to succor the injured along the road. The occasion described was my first disgraceful failure, and was due to a change of cars and inexcusable procrastination about changing the first aid outfit. Here is a list of articles which I think sufficient to carry in an emergency or first aid kit.

1. A strong vial of tincture of iodine.

2. One ounce of aromatic spirits of ammonia.

3. One ounce of flexible collodion.

4. One or two tubes of sterile petrolatum (vaseline).

5. Two ounces or four ounce carton of absorbent cotton.

6. Half dozen one yard folds of sterile gauze in envelopes.

7. Half dozen two inch gauze bandages.

8. Five yard one inch spool zinc oxide adhesive plaster.

These eight items comprise about all one is likely to have any occasion to use in an emergency, and when compactly wrapped up they will go in an overcoat pocket or a pocket of the car.

Let me suggest briefly what the items are for. Swab every fresh wound with tincture of iodine by using a wisp of cotton wrapped on a toothpick or stick. From half to one teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia, in a little cold water, may be given as a quick stimulant in fainting or shock, if the individual can swallow; this may be repeated every five or ten minutes. The collodion makes an impervious protective dressing for any small cut or wound, if the surface is perfectly dry when the collodion is painted on. The petrolatum keeps gauze from sticking to a raw wound, and is preferable to any ointment or salve on a wound. The cotton should never be applied next the wound, but as protective padding or covering over gauze. A fold of sterile gauze may be slipped from an envelope directly on a wound without touching either gauze or wound with fingers or other unsterilized object. Adhesive plaster strips, applied to clean dry skin, will serve to draw together open wounds and also to hold a dressing on a wound when bandaging is difficult.

POEMS YOU WILL ENJOY

By BERTON BEALEY

THE JAZZ BABY

There was a time when babies were gently sung to sleep By soft and tender lullabies that brought them slumber deep. They drifted off to Sleepyland in drowsy happy bliss, While mother crooned a little song, a lullaby like this:

"Rock-a-bye baby, on the tree top, When the wind blows the cradle will rock, When the bough breaks the cradle will fall, And down will come baby, cradle and all."

But now, it is the age of jazz and even babes in arms Are devotees of music that has syn-copated charms, And when the infant's bedtime comes, the modern mother gaily Accompanies her lullabies upon the ukulele, For syn-copated rhythm is a universal passion, And so the baby's lullaby runs something in this fashion:

"Rock—rock—rock-a-bye baby, Mother will buy you a saxophone, maybe;

Hear the wind a-blowin', Sets your shoulders goin' Baby's up a tree, up a tree, up a tree, Swingin' to the breezes in a minor key.

Oh my, Don't cry, Hear the jazz music of my lullaby. When the bough is brakin' Cradle starts to shakin' Shakin' like the dancers at a barbers' ball.

Toot on the saxophone, bang on the drums, Jazz 'em up, jazz 'em up—here the baby comes; Down on the ground you can see him fall, Baby an' the cradle, Baby an' the cradle, Baby an' the cradle an' all! (Copyright, 1922)

I'd Rather Make Men Than Money

This statement by a prominent manufacturer precisely typifies the policy of this University—teaching the fundamental principles of right and wrong; the moulding of noble character; the making of men and women has been Ohio Wesleyan's principal business for four generations and shall be her guiding light for as many more.

By preparing 30,000 young men and women for life as well as occupation, Ohio Wesleyan has performed an immeasurable service to society. In making men and women, the University loses money. Therefore, she must depend upon society to discharge her obligations by providing endowment funds for the development of a larger and properly paid faculty; more and better equipped buildings; a more extensive campus, and many other requirements so necessary to continue Ohio Wesleyan's eighty years' record of producing strong upstanding, God-fearing men and women.

CABIN SHIPS MOST POPULAR

Americans Object to Class Distinction, Forbes Says

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — I would like to suggest a public debate between Judge Gary and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on "Is the Twelve-hour day justifiable?"

Young Rockefeller's ideas may be gathered from this latest declaration of his concerning unsatisfactory labor conditions, including the twelve-hour day in the steel industry. "The matter how difficult it may be to abolish objectionable methods that have long prevailed, it can be done, it should be done, and must be done. Public opinion should be educated until it should become irresistible."

Judge Gary, as head of the steel industry in America, could doubtless bring forth various arguments in defense of maintaining twelve-hour shifts.

Which debate, do you think would win the majority of the votes of the audience?

The repeated reports that J. Ogden Armour is ill in New York arise from the fact that Mr. Armour is at the moment troubled with lumbago. Otherwise he is quite fit. But, as Mr. Armour remarked to me, "Sherman's definition of war could very fittingly be applied to lumbago!"

Americans are traveling a lot. General Manager T. R. Rosbottom, of the United States Lines, tells me that good as passenger traveling has been during 1922, the advance bookings indicate that it will be even better next year.

This will interest you: There is, among Americans a growing demand for passage on what are called "cabin ships," that is ships that do not have a first and second class, but only one class of saloon passengers. Mr. Rosbottom says that a great and growing number of Americans do not relish the idea of traveling on a ship where distinctions and barriers are raised against them and other groups of passengers on the ship. The typical American does not like to come to a gate bearing a warning that he must not go beyond it as the rest of the space is reserved for first-class passengers.

Mr. Rosbottom also confided that the class of passengers attracted to these "cabin ships" is particularly finer in many ways, than those who spend large sums to travel in great state on ships having first and second classes. A lot of the latter are purse-proud ostentatious and disposed to be domineering.

I can sympathize with this widespread objection to traveling second class, for I once had an experience along this line. Circumstances delayed me in Europe and instead of being able to return first class by the modest ship I had booked on, I had to take a much faster vessel, the Olympic. I hadn't enough money left to buy a first class ticket, as the second-class fare was more than the first class fare on the smaller ship.

But I hadn't been an hour on the second class deck when I saw in the first class section of the ship such men as Eugene Meyer, Jr., Vice President Gardin of the National City Bank, and several other banking and business friends, some of whom I have since died. I don't think it was so much a matter of pride as it was business reasons that caused me to go to the purser and get quarters in the first class—he, careful official, made me pay the cost of a wireless message to my bank in New York to find whether it would guarantee my check.

I reasoned that it would not help me to get closer to these men were I compelled to talk to them from the far side of a gate, but that it would be good business for me to have the opportunity a sea voyage affords for mingling and talking intimately. But, at that, perhaps I did have something to do with it?

Anyway, I rather admire the spirit of democracy which is bringing about this growing demand for passage on ships that do not have distinctions between first and second class passengers, grouping them all together as saloon passengers.

I dropped in one day this week to see George F. Baker, New York, 82 year banking giant, and was told that he had that morning decided to take a run thru to Boston and had left for the train. That news reminded me of 81 year old Clementine's ejaculation when he met the 38 year old Chauncey M. Depew, "I'm a baby!" His years don't prevent Mr. Baker from catering around quite as briskly as Clementine.

Eugene G. Grace, upon whom Charles M. Schwab's mantle is falling, began to make his mark very early in life. His father, an ex-sea captain, who had settled down as a merchant in the little town of Goshen, N. J., hadn't enough money to send all his sons to college, but they succeeded in winning their way there somehow. Gene won a valuable scholarship which helped him to work his way thru Lehigh University, and the authorities, realizing that he was very much in earnest, agreed to defer tuition payments. Gene Grace did not believe expectations. He was prize mathematician in his freshman year, and, of more importance in the eyes of the student body, he was the best shortstop their baseball team had ever had. He went in for both study and play with all his might. "Do one thing at a time, and do that one thing as if your life depended upon it," was even then one of the maxims he had adopted for his guidance. In all his four years he never missed a ball game, and under his captaincy his senior year, Lehigh had the distinction of licking Yale, Princeton, and Pennsylvania, a unique achievement for a relatively small institution. Also, he was valedictorian of his class. How did he come to enter the

SACRIFICES FUN TO SUCCESS

Pretty Dorothy Cannon, heiress of the $50,000,000 estate of Leonard C. Cannon of New York, has forsaken all the luxuries of the idle rich to make her debut in grand opera.

The lure of the opera stage was greater than the attraction of the town house on Park avenue, country home on Long Island, or the foreign house in Shanghai, China.

Bethlehem Steel Works? That company asked the President of Lehigh University to recommend two or three of the most promising graduates, and Grace was the first selected. Opportunity thus came to him because he had prepared himself for it.

Incidentally, Grace is today one of the best amateur golfers in America and can hold his own with most of the professionals. Schwab, by the way, while not in this class, also is no mean golfer—at least in my eyes, for he licked me by six holes one day this summer and when I promptly challenged him to play again the next day in order to get revenge, he licked me by seven holes!

When any one buttonholes me and asks me what I think of the stock market outlook these days, I duck. That's how I feel about it. (Copyright, 1923)

TO SOLVE MYSTERIES OF INTERIOR CHILL

NEW YORK — Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, zoologist of the Field Museum, Chicago, and party are en route to South America where they will search the wilds of Chile for new specimens.

Dr. Osgood plans to explore the region of Ancud, Chiloe Island, and Corcovado. He hopes particularly to gain the friendship of the Aurocana Indians, who have heretofore resisted the white man's invasion. If the Indians prove friendly, he will explore territory in which white men have never been.

Sailing with Dr. Osgood were H. B. Conover and C. C. Sanborn, associates in the department of ornithology of the Field Museum. They expect to remain away more than a year.

DUBLIN — The transfer to the United States of Father Dominic, who was the spiritual adviser of Terence MacSwiney at the time of the latter's death, was decided upon at the triennial election of the Franciscan Order held here a fortnight ago and has no political significance, according to a statement issued today by the Franciscan priory in this city.

It was added that the American houses of the order were under the jurisdiction of the Irish province, priests of which could be sent to the United States.

Father Dominic is bound for New York on board the White Star liner Adriatic.

British Comment on Demands Made at Near East Parley

CALLED AMERICAN BOMB

Again Referred to Dramatic Intervention

BULLETIN

LAUSANNE, (United Press) — America won her fight on the open door in the Near East today when the British delegation announced that Britain had abandoned the San Remo oil agreement.

The British, they said, considered this agreement nullified and stated that it would not be applied.

This announcement followed Secretary Lord Curzon's declaration that no divergence of views existed between England and America on the open door question.

LONDON — (Associated Press)

The statement of Ambassador Child at Lausanne last Saturday is the outstanding feature of the London morning newspapers, which, having no Sunday issues, take the first opportunity today to discuss what some term "dramatic American intervention" and "the American bombshell."

Altho some regard the ambassador's pronouncement as intended to give notice of an American determination to have a share in the Mosul oil fields, this view is not universally put forth and several influential papers treat Mr. Child's declaration as timely and welcome.

The Times says "the statement is of wider importance than anything yet settled at Lausanne. It contains no new doctrine but reaffirms an old doctrine at a moment which has been carefully chosen."

It suggests that Americans do not intend to allow anything to happen without protest at Lausanne which would make more difficult the maintenance of American rights when they come to make their own treaty with Turkey.

The Daily Mail believes that there is no "difference between the views of the British and American governments respecting the quality of opportunities in the Near East."

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic expert declares that the assumption that Ambassador Child referred especially to countries under British mandate is a misrepresentation. This newspaper asserts that provision has always been made for American participation with Great Britain and France in the Mosul oil fields.

Mr. Child's speech is welcomed by the Westminster Gazette "as at least the beginning of a recognition that the United States cannot wholly disinterested herself from European problems."

TURKEY'S DEMANDS
LAUSANNE — (Associated Press) — Turkish delegates to the Near East conference today prepared the way for Turkey's fight for abandonment of the special extra territorial privileges enjoyed by foreigners, by distributing copies of the famous "National Pact." This convention adopted by the Turkish National Assembly embodies the Ottoman demands at Lausanne.

Article VI of this pact insists that Turkey's complete independence is necessary for the country's national development and that every juridical and financial restriction imposed from without will be opposed.

The Lausanne conference is proving a good second to Versailles in the large number of petitions received from peoples and races demanding recognition and independence.

A committee of the secret revolutionary organization of Macedonia has come forward to insist upon a free Macedonia under protection of the league of nations or some mandatory power.

The arrival of the advance guard of Russians headed by M. Rakowsky, president of the Ukraine republic, has given new zest to the conference deliberations. Upon his arrival last night M. Rakowsky said that the Russians stood clearly behind Turkey in all she may ask for in open or neutral waterways, which means so much to southern Russia.

BRITAIN CALLED U. S. SHIP FOE

Trying to Defeat Subsidy Bill, Speaker Declares

MILWAUKEE

(Associated Press) — British and other foreign shipping interests and journals are engaged in a studied campaign of misrepresentation and propaganda to defeat the American ship subsidy bill, Edward C. Plummer, commissioner of the United States shipping board, declared in a speech prepared for delivery today before the middle west merchant marine and foreign trade conference.

Alarmed at the possibility that the American ships will take from them some 68 per cent of American exports which are now carried in foreign ships, the foreign shipping interests are using every possible means to discourage the upbuilding of the merchant marine in this country, Mr. Plummer said. "They've been feeding their cattle in our pastures so long that they've come to think they own the land," he declared, "so when we start to put in some stock of our own they proceed to charge us with about everything from trespass to manslaughter."

"Every sort of discrimination has been practiced against American ships in foreign trade," Mr. Plummer said, "but when Americans propose to do a little discriminating in favor of their own vessels, British interests charge the United States is trying to create a monopoly."

Mr. Plummer pointed out that by a discriminatory law in Australia, American exports to that country paid an extra duty equal to the cost of transportation from the factory to a Pacific port, if shipped over American railroads and in American ships, but the same exports escaped this duty if shipped to Vancouver over Canadian railroads and from there in British vessels.

ST. ROSE auditorium was filled Sunday evening with an interesting audience, which enjoyed the first concert of the winter season, presented under the auspices of the Charity Council of St. Rose church.

The opening number was "Andante Sostenuto" from "Trio in F" by Bargiel, played by a trio composed of B. Harley Holmes, violinist; Mrs. Andrew Dimond, cellist, and Miss Leona Feltz, pianist. Following this number, the trio played, "Serenade" by Plerne. The exceptional ability of these musicians was expressed in these two numbers, which were beautifully played.

E. J. Simons, formerly of this city, now of Detroit, sang "Mighty Deep" by Jude. After rounds of applause, Mrs. Simons sang the old favorite, "Mother O' Mine" by Tours. Miss Lucille Curran presided at the piano.

Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" was read by Mrs. Ralph Austin, whose interpretation of this touching poem was a delight to her audience. An artistic musical accompaniment was played by Mrs. Ralph Shriver.

Proceeds from the concert will be used for philanthropic purposes. The committee in charge included Miss Anna Cantwell, Miss Nelle O'Connor, Miss Mary Callahan and Miss Elizabeth Hannan.

A very important meeting of the Lima Arts club will be held at the home of Mrs. Lulah M. Butler, 684 W. Spring-st., Monday at 7:30 p. m. Officers will be elected at this time and the future meeting places will be announced.

All who have attended the previous meetings as well as all those in Lima and vicinity, who are interested in music, painting, sculpture, literature, dramatics and home economics, are invited to be present.

Ladies' Social club of the U. C. T. will meet in the hall Saturday afternoon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Henry Tilton, Mrs. Carl Scott and Mrs. Samuel Roeder. Members are requested to bring their donations of books.

Bestyette club will meet with Mrs. Frank Crider, 526 S. Pine-st., Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Robert Whitmore, Dayton, arrived in this city Monday for a several days' stay at the home of Mrs. Lulah M. Butler, W. Spring-st. Mr. Whitmore, who is a noted painter and etcher, is in this city during the month of May, when Fine Arts week was enjoyed here under the auspices of the City Federation of Women's clubs.

A reception was given last Wednesday in the Dayton Museum of Art honoring Mr. Whitmore. The occasion marked the presentation of the picture, "Licking Valley," by Mr. Stetson, head of the Dayton Museum of Art. The picture was purchased by the Dayton school children.

Mrs. L. A. Larsen, W. Market-st., welcomed the members of the Lotus club at her home, Monday afternoon. Members responded to roll call either with facts concerning a play, written by a woman, which they had witnessed or anecdotes about present season plays.

Mrs. M. S. Thompson presented a very comprehensive paper on the subject, "Women in Drama, Present Season Plays." At the close of the program, a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

Miss Frances Colucci, W. Market-st., was hostess to the members of the Klamor Klub, Saturday evening. A contest in which Miss Helen Creps was successful, together with other diversions formed the pastime, after which a delicious luncheon was served. Guests other than members were Misses Evelyn Summers, Margaret Carpenter and Virginia Myers.

Misses Joan Butler and Frances Greene will be initiated into the club at the next meeting, which will be held with Miss Mildred Cook, Faucett-st.

Triangle Five Hundred club will meet with Mrs. W. Christman, 434 W. Grand-av., Tuesday evening.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

DEAR MISS SMART:
THINKING the summer months I went with a girl nearly every Sunday night. I was wild about her then and I still am. She is two years my junior. I love her but I am afraid she doesn't care a snap for me because one time she was seeing another boy very often. I told her she was seeing too much of this boy. I met this girl thru her cousin, who is a boy friend of mine. Please tell me how I can find out whether she loves me or not. Please give me some good advice about this love affair. I have been with a number of girls from different towns but none of them seem to go to my heart as this particular girl's love. (2) Would you tell me the meanings of these names: (a) Eliza and (b) Eugene?

SURELY you know, "Jinks," since I have answered this old, old question so many times my answer to your particular one must only be a repetition. There is no exact way, in which you can discover whether or not your love is reciprocated. If this girl accepts your invitations and enjoys your company, you may feel quite certain that she is at least interested in you.

It is absurd for you to think that this girl doesn't care for you simply because she was with another boy quite often. If she was seeing too much of him it was your fault. If you care for her be wise in the future and "show" her with as many attentions and courtesies as your present rival won't have a chance.

(2) (a) Flowers and (b) noble spirited.

DEAR MISS SMART:
(1) We are two girls 16 years of age and are in love with two of the nicest young men, who are five years our senior. We are thinking very seriously of getting married. Are we too young? They seem very interested in us and have given us diamonds. They have never missed an appointment. Don't you think this is enough to prove their love for us or do you think they are just fooling us? (2) What are the meanings of the following names: (a) Alice (b) Bessie (c) Irene (d) Len (e) William (f) Arnold and (g) Allen?

(1) And to you young ladies with such "grown up" ideas I must urge you to wait until you grow up before you think about young men and their fondness for you. You are in the stages of infatuation. In another year probably both of you will have completely forgotten these young men.

Spend the winter skating and studying and never mind the boys. Occasionally of course, you should have friends but not "steady company."

As for this diamond, (real or "unreal"), young men do not make such elaborate presents to young girls. If they have the right kind of feeling toward them, unless they are formally engaged. And both of you, of course, are too young for that.

(2) (a) Princess, (b) worshiper of God, (c) peace, (d) lion, (e) resolute helmet, (f) faithful to his honor and (g) light.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Another Angle to Triangle

BY ZOE RECKLEY

Barrett was packing his bag in his room at the Yale Club. His announcement over the telephone that he was leaving New York, probably America, would be all the farewell he would make. It was better so, he told himself. The children were definitely for their mother. It would give them only pain to see him again. Better go, leaving as little sadness behind as possible.

But his telephone announced that his son was waiting downstairs to see him. Barrett started. How hard it was to get off, cleanly and quickly. Responsibilities—Myra's "responsibilities"—rang again in his ears. He was about to put his half-packed grip out of sight, but with a grim setting of the will, he desisted. A knock, and Junior entered.

The boy was at that moment very like his father, with his lean face pale and his jaw set. The two stood looking at each other. The boy's eyes dropped.

"—er—Dad, I don't know what to say, but—" He came to a dead stop.

Barrett was glad the boy's eyes were not upon him. His own were hungrily bent on the slim, athletic youth.

"There's very little to say, John," Barrett's voice was gentle. "I am convinced sincerely that your mother will be happier without me. We can't get on. You'll all be better off. I've left instructions about money. You shall go to college, and Alice, too, without the least thought of difference."

Junior looked up, a flush warming his face.

"I shan't go on with college," he said, swallowing.

"And why not?"

"I want to—earn my living," answered the boy with a glance of defiance.

"I see—I see," Barrett slowly nodded. "Don't want any more support from me, eh? Well, lad it hurts. But life often hurts. One has to go on just the same."

"I can—go on." Again the boy was troubled. "But mother. It's awful. And Alice. Alice—she's—just desperate—"

The first look of real alarm Barrett had shown leaped into his face. He strode over to his son, grasped his arm.

"What about Alice?—What do you mean, desperate?"

THE FIRST LOOK OF REAL ALARM BARRETT HAD SHOWN LEAPED INTO HIS FACE.

The boy's spirit collapsed. "I don't know. But she says things—awful things—but somehow she seems to mean them. She threatens."

WESLEYAN CLAIMS OHIO CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP

TITLE IS IN DOUBT

CLEVELAND. — Ohio Wesleyan having nosed out Denison 14 to 13, down at Granville, as the wind-up of its football season, now claims that it holds the Ohio conference grid title all by its lonesome.

Oberlin claims to be tied with Wesleyan, but the Methodists deny this, although Oberlin won all five of its conference games.

Wesleyan won conference battles and played a stiffer Buckeye schedule and there you have the argument in a nutshell.

Wesleyan beat Miami 6 to 0. Oberlin beat Miami 3 to 0. Both of 'em swamped Case, but Wesleyan mopped up on the scientists heavier than Oberlin did.

St. Xavier, down at Cincinnati, also finished without a defeat by a conference eleven, but only played two conference games, so any claim it might put in for the title won't be recognized.

But the Oberlin-Wesleyan question as to the championship, will never be officially settled.

Ohio Wesleyan has challenged Oberlin to a post-season game for the title, but Oberlin replied that this isn't feasible under Ohio conference rules.

"Pop" Warner Wins New Honors

Pittsburg, Pa. — The University of Pittsburg football team will close its home season with the annual Thanksgiving game with the Pennsylvania State College at Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburg Pirates, and a crowd of 23,000 — all that the park will hold — is anticipated.

This will be the twenty-fifth contest between these Keystone State teams, football relations between them extending back to 1892 when Pitt was known as the Western University of Pennsylvania.

Last year and in 1929 the games resulted in scoreless ties, and in 1919 State won by the score of 20 to 0. Previous to that the Panthers had won six in a row, their victorious string starting in 1914, the year before the veteran Glenn Warner came here to coach.

Pitt has lost two games this season, to Lafayette and West Virginia University. Lafayette won by the score of 7 to 0, and the Mountaineers triumphed by the count of 9 to 6.

STARTED WITH GREEN TEAM

Warner started out this fall with a decidedly green team. He had lost by graduation last spring four of the five men in the center of his line, including Herb Stein, who had won All-America honors at center. Harvey Harman, one of the best tackles ever developed here; Leon Kelly and Fred Peters. He also lost his All-America halfback, Tom Davies, one of the greatest broken-field runners in modern football — a real flash, whose place could not be easily filled.

Then in the Lafayette game this fall he lost Captain Tom Holleran, his quarterback, who was put out of it with a broken arm. Holleran was a tower of strength in the back field, a great interferer and a fine defensive player. He was also a heartiest at receiving forward passes and good at throwing them.

Then, on the eve of the Penn game, Nick Shuler, second string quarterback, who had been developing rapidly, was stricken with pneumonia, and in the struggle with the Quakers Nick Stenna, second string fullback, suffered a dislocated elbow, which deprived the coach of his services.

PITT HAS FINE RECORD

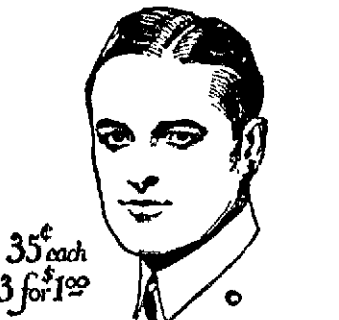

In spite of numerous handicaps, Warner kept steadily at work, defeated Bucknell, Syracuse, Cincinnati, Geneva and Penn, and topped this off with a most brilliant victory over Pitt's sectional rival, Washington and Jefferson, last Saturday.

Prominent in the W. & J. defeat were H. C. Flanagan, Orville M. Hewitt, J. C. Winterburn, Jack Sack, Charley Bowser and John Anderson.

Pitt is mighty proud of its grid-ders, practically of whom are products of high and prep schools in Western Pennsylvania. Coach Warner took this outfit and welded it into a machine which is showing more power and drive with every game. Pitt is one of the three colleges in the state of Pennsylvania which observes the one-year residence and the three-year competition eligibility rules, the others being University of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State College.

Watches registering tenth of second intervals will be tried out by A. A. U. at cross-country race in New York.

CORNELL'S GREAT BACKS WILL HUSTLE PENN

ITHACA, N. Y. — Cornell is banking on its great backfield, plus the help the strong line is certain to give, for victory over Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day.

Kaw, who was considered one of the greatest backs in the country last year, an All-American selection, is going better than ever. His work against Dartmouth was in keeping with his high standard. He is sure to be a thorn in Penn's side. Kaw is one of the greatest triple threat backs in the country. In Penn, Cornell has a brainy quarter, whose work is certain to stand out in the Penn clash. He has run the big Red team in perfect style in every game this year. In Cassidy and Ramsey, Kaw has two great running mates, who do things just about as well as the coach talked about Texan. Even Coach Doherty, the original "Gloomy Gus," can enthusiastically backfield.

Princeton Has Best Record Of Any Eastern Term

BY HENRY J. FARRELL
NEW YORK.—Princeton's place at the top of eastern football is firmly established. Princeton, Cornell, the Army and West Virginia remain undefeated, so perhaps the claim of the Tigers to the eastern championship can be disputed. None can deny, however, that the Tigers have the best record.

The Army proved itself to be one of the most powerful in the east in winning from the Navy, but still with West Point goes on to victory with players who have been playing for five, six seven and as many as eight years. It is not fair to consider the Cadets for championships.

Cornell has another game remaining with Pennsylvania, and it may be a tough one, but even if Cornell finishes the season without a defeat the easy schedule which the big Red team had will prevent it from getting serious consideration.

One of the surprises was the defeat administered to the Washington and Jefferson eleven by Dartmouth. The narrow escape Lafayette had in beating Lehigh only 3 to 0, was another jolt.

Because most of the experts figured Yale to be the favorite, the victory of Harvard in the last of the big three games might be considered a surprise. Yale's only hope for victory rested in playing a different game when the Eli has played all season and they didn't do it. Yale had the material and perhaps the coaching, but Yale did not have football brains.

In beating Stanford 28 to 0, the great California eleven was able to retain its position as the best scoring machine among the major teams. The "Beurs" have piled up a total of 398 points. Leading the east and second on the national list is Cornell with 230 points. Auburn has the lead in the south with 277 and Iowa was the best in the middle west with 278.

Michigan and Notre Dame had the best defenses in the country. Each had only 13 points scored against them. Notre Dame, however, had her goal line crossed once while the Michigan line was twice crossed. Depauw scored one touchdown on Notre Dame, while Georgia Tech and Butler scored a field goal each.

Both Wisconsin and Minnesota scored touchdowns on Michigan and Minnesota added the point after touchdown. "Bots" Brunner, Lafayette back, was the best individual scorer among the major eleven with 16 points; Wilson, of Penn State and Robertson of Carnegie Tech scored 73; Mann, of Cornell, had 66 and Palm of Penn State, 53.

Many Ring Champs In Danger

NEW YORK — Ring champions had a tough year in 1922 and the road down thru the coming year looks no less bumpy for the present title holders.

Johnny Buff headed the losers of 1922 by dropping both the flyweight and bantamweight titles; Jack Britton, after a long reign as welterweight champion, was deposed; Gene Tunney lost the light heavyweight crown and Georges Carpentier ended his regime as European heavyweight titleholder.

Among the present champions, only Pancho Villa and Jack Dempsey seems to be out of dire danger of dropping into the list of ex-champions in the next year.

Most of the critics agree that Villa, the little American flyweight champion, is the best boy at his weight in the world. It is generally believed that he will annex the world's title if he succeeds in coaxing Jimmy Wilde, the little Welshman, into the ring. Wilde's only danger is that he will outgrow the flyweight class but even at that his chances to annex the bantamweight championship in time from Joe Lynch are very good.

Dempsey's only great threat comes from Harry Wills or Tommy Gibbons. Beyond all doubt, the heavyweight champion will meet one or both of them before another year rolls around.

There is no denying that Wills is a very formidable opponent for Dempsey but there will be a lot of money laid that Dempsey will win from the big Irish fighter.

Gibbons ought to make a good opponent for Dempsey. The disparity of weight is not a big factor. His chances against Dempsey are almost as good as those of Wills. Dempsey has always had trouble with a small, fast opponent.

By following the same tactics that have had them in bad for several years with the ring works, Johnny Wilson and Johnny Kilbane may succeed in holding their titles indefinitely, as long as they refuse to meet any opponents without getting the U. S. hunt for their labors.

Kilbane is frank in admitting that if he separates from his title, he wants a huge pile for doing it, but Wilson will not give his rivals a chance under any circumstances.

In as far as Wilson and the middleweight class is concerned, the attitude of the champion is a shame. He is making no money out of the title and yet he hangs on to it with the attitude of the miser.

Benny Leonard is another one on the books for succession in the next year. Leonard may not have gone back as far as is generally believed, but it is almost a unanimous opinion that he will never be as good as he used to be at 135 pounds.

Mickey Walker, the new welterweight champion, didn't get the credit he was taking the title away from Jack Britton.

While he may not be the polished artist that Britton was, he is young, has a terrific punch and has enough intelligence to learn fast.

Joe Lynch is such an erratic performer that he is anything but a good bet to retain the bantamweight championship. Henry Greb may retain the light heavyweight championship as long as he stays from Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tunney and as long as he works with a referee who will let him get away with every foul in the book.

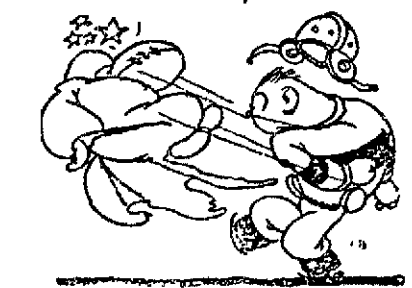

Army Given Trophy

WEST POINT, N. Y. — Fritz Breidster, captain of the Army football team which defeated the Navy Saturday, has been presented with a Navy blue blanket neatly embroidered with three gold stars, which for a time on Saturday kept Bill Capricornus, the Navy's goat, warm at Franklin Field. The stars commemorate previous victories for the Navy at which Bill was mascot. The enthusiasm of cadets celebrating the Army victory resulted in Bill making a cold trip back to Annapolis.

AERIAL GAME IS DELAYED TEAMS WAIT TOO LONG BEFORE OPENING UP SAYS CRITIC

(BY BILLY EVANS)

Why does practically every football team wait so long before starting it in the fall before opening up? With a majority of eleven the forward pass is merely a weapon to use as a last resort. If defeat seems certain, try to stave it off with the forward pass.

Notre Dame is one of the few teams that use the pass more than the great quarterbacks and country has ever known. During his days at Brown, it was the exception for any one to pick an All-American team that failed to include Sprackling.

During the progress of the Harvard-Princeton game certain situations arose that called upon the quarterback for snap judgment. Off-forward pass is merely a weapon to use as a last resort. If defeat seems certain, try to stave it off with the forward pass.

Seems to me the half must be nearly over. It would be much wiser to get off a few line plays or end runs in slow fashion and use up as much time as possible, since they are out in the lead.

"There is always a chance that one of those long forward passes will be intercepted and someone run for a touchdown."

Sprackling had scarcely finished when Snively cut loose another long forward pass that was intercepted by Harvard man, who for a time seemed on his way to a touchdown. A few seconds later the whistle blew, ending the half.

"Why doesn't Harvard open up?" Late in the second period Sprackling kept saying that to me. It seemed that Harvard must do so if it was to take of football judgment when he was a star. After that left the game, the Harvard quarters who succeeded him didn't always do what Sprackling figured was the best play. I might add that the Harvard quarters were wrong, not Sprackling.

Several times the Princeton quarter didn't do just as Earl figured he would. On one occasion, after Snively had thrown a long forward pass that was grounded, Sprackling remarked:

"That is a dangerous play. I am a bit surprised Princeton is using it."

BOXING DOPE

By BILLY EVANS

Pancho Villa recently won the flyweight championship. Only a few weeks ago Mickey Walker captured the welterweight title from Jack Britton.

When a fighter wins a title it is only natural that he should desire to profit financially as a result of his efforts. It has been customary for all champions of the past to so handle their affairs.

Consequently when Mickey Walker, thru his manager, let the world know that he was going on the stage for a couple of months, it caused no great surprise. Walker was simply doing what all other champions of the past have done, pick up some soft money without taking any chances.

SEEK NO DECISION BOUTS

Recently it has been customary for champions to seek no-decision bouts after winning their title. In such bouts their only chance of tossing off the championship was by being knocked out, which of course is a rarity in these days of light hitters.

When Abe Attell was champion featherweight, he so far outclassed his field, that in order to get matches he was compelled to take on lightweight. Johnny Dundee has also been forced to give away his day in order to keep busy.

Johnny Dundee was compelled to take on the lightweight, since none of the featherweights were able to press him. This practice, however, is being much abused by the modern lighters.

STICK TO THEIR CLASS

Recently, the New York Boxing Commission ruled that there was no need of Villa going into the bantam class for opponents when there were plenty of flyweights able to offer keen competition.

The other day the wires carried a story that Mickey Walker intended to take on several middleweights in the very near future. If such bouts are scheduled for New York state the commission no doubt will veto them.

The big idea of course is the champion is taking no chance in going out of his class. Anything that might happen to a champion in a bout with a much heavier man would have no bearing on his title.

In other words, when a champion goes out of his class to meet a heavier man, he is adopting safety first tactics in the ring.

There are so many good welterweights anxious to take Walker on that to get out of his class makes it appear that he is dodging the issue.

HARVARD TO AGAIN NUMBER PLAYERS

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—Harvard's departure in Saturday's game with Yale from her custom of not numbering players will not be permanent, Frederick W. Moore, graduate treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association declared today. In other quarters however, it was said that probably players would be numbered in the more important games in the future.

Johnny Weismuller, world champion swimmer, picks 150-yard world record at the one he'll smash in Cleveland Athletic Club swimming pool Dec. 14.

COACH ROPER HAS UNIQUE THEORIES

Coach Bill Roper of Princeton has some peculiar theories on football, yet they have been highly successful.

One of his pet hobbies is that a player should never fall on a loose ball, instead he should pick it up and run with it.

The history of the gridiron has proved that the Roper theory in this respect is a mighty good one. Princeton beat Columbia and Harvard by grabbing a loose ball and running with it.

"An interferer never looks back." That is another of the truths that is painted on a sign in the Princeton club house. It is a spot where it can't be missed as the players file in and out of the dressing-room.

It is a rather interesting fact that failure to observe that truth resulted in a Princeton victory and a Harvard defeat in the recent game between the two teams.

George Owen, the Harvard back, after a run of 35 yards and a clear field, was tripped by one of his interferers who looked around.

It is a cinch that Coach Roper has called the attention of the Princeton players to that happening many a time since the Harvard game.

ST. JOHN'S TO PLAY FRIDAY

One of the blank spaces in Delphos St. John's schedule was filled Monday morning, when the Ohio City high school team was booked to play Friday night.

The visitors have won five out of six games played so far this season and are playing good; and the St. John's quintet will be pushed all the way, if they win by as good a margin as they did over St. Rose last week.

The Lima St. John's aggregation is booked to play at Delphos a week from Tuesday.

Jefferson high school will not play scholastic basketball this season, it was announced Saturday. The reason for this decision is that athletic authorities feel that they would not be able to care for the visiting team spectators in the proper manner because of the smallness of the gym.

A schedule of inter-class games is being worked out and these will be the only contributions to the game this winter.

St. Rose will play at Lima Friday night and athletic officials announce that unless the five come thru with a win over the visitors from the South, the remainder of the schedule will be cancelled.

Considerable dissatisfaction is being shown over the lack of interest in the sport, it is said, and this is one of the reasons why the game will be dropped.

SPORT CORES

TOLEDO.—Bill Tate, negro heavyweight and former sparring partner of Jack Dempsey and "Tut" Jackson of Washington C. H. are scheduled to meet in a 12-round bout here tonight.

Yale defeated Harvard 1 to 0 in hot soccer match at New Haven.

Milwaukee beats Cleveland, for hockey sextet 4 to 3 in game at Milwaukee.

It is reported that Columbia seeks to sign up Greasy Neale, W. and J. football coach, as its football mentor.

Buffalo promoter is said to have offered Jess Willard $25,000 to bat Floyd Johnson in January.

Twenty-four pairs of ring-neck pheasants have been received at Newcastle, Pa., to be turned loose for breeding purposes in the county.

Tommy O'Brien of Milwaukee shades Kayo Jeakle of Toledo in 10-round lightweight bout.

The U. S. S. Commodore at Chicago. Johnny Dundee is now acting as his own manager and press agent too.

PHILADELPHIA.—William Roper, head coach at Princeton and member of the Philadelphia city council has been appointed a member of the city's boxing commission. William H. Hollenback, former Penn football coach, was also named on the commission.

The Good of Fruit

Raisins furnish mineral salts and a rare content of food-iron to enrich the blood.

Add raisins, therefore, to your puddings, cakes, pies, rolls, bread, salads, etc., not merely to make them more attractive but to get the good of this delicious fruit.

SHORT SUBJECTS INTRODUCE PHOTOPLAY IDEAS

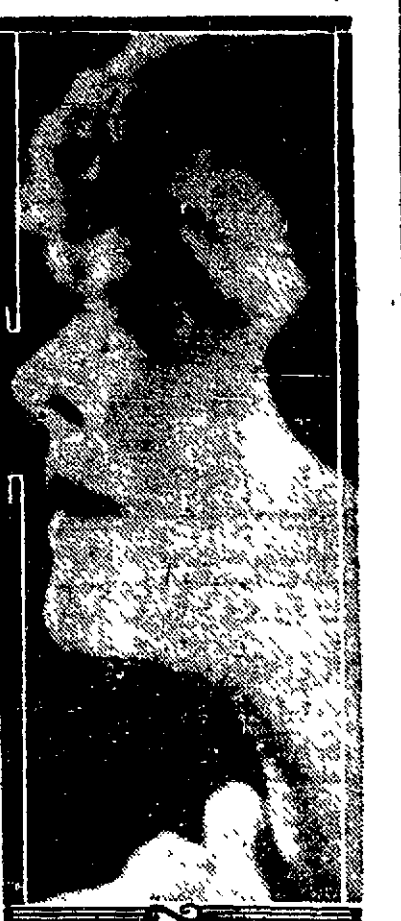

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
The short subject films point the way to the feature photoplays. The new comic has always been in the advance of the multiple-reel photoplay in the development of a distinctive form of expression. Now other short films, such as scenic, animated drawings and political comedies, are showing more originality in subject and treatment than the bigger films. These remarks arise from several hours devoted to previewing some new short subjects.

Earl Hurd shows in a new series of one-reelers what novel effects can be gained with a combination of animated drawings and photoplays. "Railroading," is a whimsical tale of a boy making a movie by using drawn figures of a boy and dog as his actors. These figures cut-up in a toy train and a real cat and a little chicken become involved in the plot. At first this all seemed utter nonsense, but on reflection it appears that Hurd put himself in the attitude of a little child and wove a tale such as might be sketched on the walls of a nursery. It is a beautiful bit of imagery when considered in that light.

Max Fleischer in his "Out of the Inkwell" series employs the same scheme and is a bit more adroit with his work than Hurd. However, he doesn't look at the picture he creates through the eyes of a child.
Robert Bruce also resorts to the fancies of a story-teller in "A Natural Born Liar," the latest of his scenic. In this he introduces beautiful panoramas by having a nomad of the north tell about his various adventures.
Thus the camera shows a mirage of the desert, a lake in which the smallest trout is two feet nine inches long and an ocean in the mountains. Critics in England have acclaimed such Bruce pictures as these as the most artistic yet produced in America.

Lady Diana Manners (left) was known as England's most beautiful woman before she entered the movies. Katherine MacDonald entered the movies and then was acclaimed by many as America's greatest beauty.

where his trembling, praying mother is waiting and there is the large eyed sweetheart, still cherishing a daisy he had given her, oh so long ago!

The Lyric offers you "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" as its attraction until Thanksgiving Day. Whether or not you will enjoy it depends upon your personal taste in pictures. You know—some do and some don't.

"Three Twins," A Riot of Laughter and Song
FOR the opening attraction of their second week at the New Orpheum, Bert Smith and his Ragtime Wonders are presenting to well-pleased audiences, the comedy play "The Three Twins," a hilarious bit of stage entertainment.

We have seen many mammoth and artistic photoplays, but few can compare to the beauty and magnificence of "Nero."

At the Lyric until Thursday.

"The Siren Call," Well Produced—Quilna

THE title of this little drama, "The Siren Call," may lead you to believe that the star, Miss Dorothy Dalton, is the siren. She isn't. The cold stretches near the Yukon are the lure referred to in the title. But Dorothy is there—entertaining at the Casino where her magnetic personality and vivacious charm keeps business booming.
Dorothy never takes a drink herself, and, whisper, she is married, although the proprietor of the casino and friend husband think it better for everyone concerned that the fact be kept a deep, dark secret. So she secretes her wedding band, and when nobody's looking, mourns and cries over it.
If you have any Sherlockian instincts, you have guessed by this time that her husband is a villain. You just know that no real gentleman would permit his wife to entertain in a casino. However, there isn't much cause to worry for the story is a pack of wolves take care of Mr. Brent in plenty of time for Mrs. Brent, who by this time has convinced the hero that she is a good woman.
That's right, there is a hero in the tale. He's Mr. David Powell, in the role of Ralph Stevens, who takes her from the casino and makes her his wife.
The story is interesting and while Miss Dalton hasn't a great deal of chance she is splendid in her role. Mr. Powell and others, including Mitchell Lewis, are good in their roles, and there's a fight in one of the scenes, enacted on a raft rapidly drifting towards the rapids. (Too many rapids.)
That's "The Siren Call." Nice little picture, sure to entertain.
At the Quilna until Thursday.

At regular intervals specialties by the company's several soloists are presented, with Vi Shaffer, Sue Hale and the trio perhaps the most popular. A character song by one of the principals and the rendition of 'blues' songs by Miss Shaffer were extremely well received at the matinee on Sunday.
Here you have a chorus who dance well, sing well and otherwise come up to expectations. The finale "A Ladder of Roses" forms a most effective number, well staged.
The present program will remain in effect until Thanksgiving afternoon, when a new feature will replace it, being the final attraction of the Bert Smith company in the city.

"The Masquerader," Most Commendable—Sigma

HERE is a picture it is really a pleasure to recommend. Not having had the luck to see the stage production, it is impossible to say whether or not you will like this as well, but I do know that it is the best thing I have seen on the screen for ages—two men. John Chilcote, M. P. and John Loder, journalist, whose only difference in appearance is a tiny scar on the little finger of Loder's right hand. Disposition has driven Chilcote to the depths, and in a time when he most needs will power he is a total loss. For years Loder has had longed for the chance which Chilcote has so carelessly thrown away, so he takes the name and personality of John Chilcote.
There's bound to be much interest in such a plot when it's well done, as "The Masquerader" is. Guy Bates Post plays the same dual role that he essayed on the speaking stage, the tottering member of parliament and his double, and he does it splendidly. He befores in the value of intense dramatic interpretation, with the result that he holds the center of attention from beginning to end.
An excellent and well trained cast give able support. Ruth Sinclair, as Eve Chilcote, is lovely and appealing, and Edward M. Kimball, as the faithful old servant, does good work. Photography, direction, etc., are fine. In fact, each little detail has been well taken care of.
Pictures like "The Masquerader" really justify the motion picture industry.
At the Sigma until Thursday.

AT THE MAJESTIC
Constance Talmadge is starred in "Woman's Place," the attraction again today at the Majestic theatre. Also a Harold Lloyd comedy.

AT THE RIALTO
"The Hound of the Baskervilles," a mystery drama, continues to appear at the Rialto theatre again today. Also other features.

CLOSEUPS
"The Destroying Angel" will be Leal Baird's next picture. It will be adapted from a story by Louis Joseph Vance. John Bowers will be leading man.

Mr. Chaplin is furrowing his brow as he endeavors to decide who shall be Edna Purviance's leading man in the series of pictures thru which he is to direct her.

"Mary Ann" will be the name of Mabel Normand's next picture. She will have a slum shopgirl role.

Monte Blue is to have the part of Dr. Kennicott in Warner Brothers' picturization of the Sinclair Lewis story "Main Street." This actor has signed a long term contract with Warner Brothers. According to the Griffith verdict he is: "A better actor than Valentino can ever hope to be."

Judge Returns Prisoner's Fine

Ed Pickering, 32, negro, 1221 S. Atlantic-av, was fined $5 in police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to stealing coal from the Erie Railroad.
Pickering flicked a note across the table to Judge Jackson in payment of his fine. Jackson looked at it a moment, then shoved it back.
"Keep it and buy coal; understand, buy coal with it," he said.
Jackson's examination of the case showed that Pickering's family is in need.
Homer Little, 27, who rooms and boards with Pickering, was fined $25 and sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a similar charge. He defied the court before sentence was passed on him by declaring that he would continue to take coal from the railroad as long as he needed it.
Jackson had advised him to seek work.

TRIBUTE PAID BY DELPHOS PEOPLE AT DUNN FUNERAL

Funeral services were held Monday at 9 a. m. at St. John's Catholic church, Delphos, for Richard U. Dunn, 27, world war veteran who died from ulcers of the stomach. Solemn requiem mass was intoned. Rev. John Thies, Columbus Grove, formerly of Delphos, was the celebrant. Revs. Rupert and Burkhardt, local priests, filled the other offices of the mass.
One hundred and fifty members of the F. O. Eagles, C. K. of O., and Sacred Heart league attended the services in a body. Interment was made in St. John's cemetery.

Snow Barrages Banned by Police

Barrages laid by youngsters who shower imaginary foes with salvos of snowballs must cease, police declare.
Despite the temptation early snow has given the youngsters, snowballing must be confined to areas where innocent passersby will not furnish unwilling targets.
The matter of snowballing was called to the attention of police Sunday when Alfred A. Dole, 119 S. Collett-st complained that his wife had been hit in the face with rolled flakes while they were driving across the intersection of Baxter and Market-sts Sunday.
Don't miss The Big Country store at Majestic Theater tomorrow night.

"Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight" — Lyric

JUST to show you that the movies have NOT gone to the bow-wow and that, on the other hand, their sole aim and purpose is to evangelize the world, the producers have come forward with a cinema version of the popular old song "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," with the required amount of tears, moral lessons, and so on. I'm telling you just what kind of picture it is in case you haven't already guessed.
Cullen Landis is really the best asset the film has. He is cast as the boy in the song, a country youth who leaves his home and a beautiful, agreeable mother, not to mention a large-eyed and true sweetheart for the wicked city. The bright lights lure him onward, as were, and it is not long until he becomes enmeshed in the affections of Yvonne, a show girl. Her name, of course, could have been plain Nellie or Mary, and she could still be a show girl. But she isn't. She's Yvonne, and she's a me-e-e-e job, to revert back to everyday slang.
Now to take a liking to a girl like Yvonne means violets and diamonds and expensive parties at cabarets. So the youth goes back to the village store-keeper, who,

it seems, was a little Rockefeller in disguise.

The prodigal lands in jail. He saves the life of the warden, however, and is given his freedom. Whereat he hurries back home, thru forever with the wicked city and its show girls. So, while the organ, tremulous, plays softly and slowly the old hymn "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," the hero approaches, thru a raging snowstorm,

"Mary Ann" will be the name of Mabel Normand's next picture. She will have a slum shopgirl role.

Monte Blue is to have the part of Dr. Kennicott in Warner Brothers' picturization of the Sinclair Lewis story "Main Street." This actor has signed a long term contract with Warner Brothers. According to the Griffith verdict he is: "A better actor than Valentino can ever hope to be."

WHERE - IS MY WANDERING BOY TO-NIGHT

You'll see—how vamps lure their victims to ruin, how money, jewels, jazz palaces and high jinks drag young men down.

You'll see a punch drama of Broadway and Main Street, of dance halls and a little church, of cabarets and soda fountains—of a mother and her wayward boy—of a country lass and a chorus girl.

You'll see—how a mother's heart can be breaking and how she still can smile thru her choking tears for the boy she loves.

MUTT AND JEFF—ANYWAY, JEFF'S KIND TO HIS MOTHER—

SHORT SHAVINGS

Harley Coats, suburban farmer of Van Wert says his wife has the latest hens in the county.

They are of a feathery variety and buff colored. "They have grown so fat," he says, "my wife has to lift them up onto their roost at night and lift them down again in the morning."

Vaughn Miller, engineer, didn't fully appreciate the difference in appearance between mica and celluloid until a few days ago, reports a friend. Then he took home what he thought was mica to repair a stove. He knew it was celluloid, tho, when it blew up with a great puff of smoke.

Bert Kensing reports a large flock of crows numbering many thousands is gathered along Old State road near Milan, O.

When strung out the flock takes five or ten minutes to pass a given point.

The chorus is quite loud, he says, when the crows begin to sing.

"Butch" Lawler tells about a little girl aged 7, in his neighborhood. She had several front teeth removed, which makes her lip, as she discovered when she was given a cup of chocolate for breakfast, and said to her mother, "Please stir it up."

The way she lapped it sounded so funny, and made her mother laugh, so, and she repeated it so many times, that she was late to school.

Dr. Oliver Stueber knows a young man who stayed over night at the house of a friend in Lakewood-av. He put his watch and chain on a table when he went to bed. He couldn't find it when he got up in the morning. A currier in a gilded cage on the table had played a joke on him. It had dragged the chain into the cage, and would have got the watch in, too, if it hadn't been too big for the space between the bars, says Hines.

"All My Children Have Benefited From Father John's Medicine"

"Two years ago our whole family was sick with influenza and it left us all with very distressing coughs. We tried Father John's Medicine and soon we were all entirely well again. We have found Father John's Medicine to be very good for throat and bronchial troubles. My three children always take it for a cold. It has built them up so that they seldom have a cold now." (Signed) Mrs. J. Morgan, 3311 Lemay Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Father John's Medicine nourishes those who are run down back to normal health. It is a pure food tonic and is safe for all to take because it is guaranteed to be free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. Start taking it today.—Adv.

"Gee-Whiz! How it Hurts—
—The Pain in My Foot!"

"Sometimes it is in my arm. Merciful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an overabundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order."

"Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anuria." This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

Send a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, take heed, before too late. Get Anuria (anti-uric-acid), for it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Ask your nearest druggist for it or send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

Fifteen Will Be Honest

The reason that eighty-five men out of a hundred will give you for being failures, is that they had "bad luck." Fifteen will be honest enough to tell you that they didn't save when they could have gone, so and therefore did not have the money to take advantage of opportunity when it presented itself.

Carey ASBESTAIR

MAKES your coldest rooms comfortable while reducing your fuel bill.

Noroom is "hard to heat" after you have applied Asbestair pipe covering over the paper now on your furnace pipes.

Asbestair prevents heat from radiating from the pipes into the cellar. Thus more heat is forced upstairs. Less fuel is needed because less heat is wasted. You save the cost of the Asbestair the first winter, and save money every year thereafter.

Apply it yourself or let us do it.

Niagara Flake Lye

Pours easily
Dissolves quickly
Never cakes
Safer to use

—it's easy to use lye in this new flake form

Any objections to lye for household cleaning are entirely removed now that you can buy this great universal cleanser in the form of "Niagara Flake Lye"—white wax-like flakes that pour easily, never crust or cake, and yet dissolve quickly and completely.

Niagara Flake Lye is unexcelled for many cleaning uses—cuts grease in pots and pans, cleans drains, traps and sewers, makes clothes-washing or dish-washing easy, brightens glassware, metal surfaces, and, in mild solution, cleans paint.

To get this convenient flake form of pure lye ask your grocer for "Niagara Flake Lye" by name—he'll give you the black and orange can with the picture of the Falls on the label.

Easier to handle,
Safer to use
